O.K. 32 MILLIONS TO PUMP WATER OVER MOUNTAIN

Try a Perpetual Motion Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Details of one of the administration's most imaginative engineering attempts—the $31,700,000 trans-mountain diversion project in the Rockies—were disclosed today.

Announcing President Roosevelt's findings that the project was feasible, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes said construction would begin soon. Congress has appropriated $900,000 to start the job. With items in the program which have been proposed but not specifically authorized the project may reach a total cost of 44 million dollars.

Rivaling the ingenuity which conceived the idea of harnessing the ocean tides at Passamaquoddy, Me., [an ill-fated scheme], the plans for this newest irrigation and power project involve the perpetual motion principle which has agitated the minds of inventors through the ages.

Pump It Up to Run Down.

Put crudely into layman language the project provides for the pumping of water up a portion of the western slope of the Rocky mountains and through a 13 mile tunnel, 4,000 feet under snowy peaks, to the eastern slope. The water running down the eastern slope in turn will generate power which will be used to pump the water up the western slope. It is as simple as all that.

Engineers of the bureau of reclamation under Secretary Ickes have declared the scheme practical and the President has concurred. The only objections came from persons who feared the scenic beauty of Rocky Mountain National park would be marred by the tunneling operations. But Secretary Ickes declared there would be no injury to the park.

The primary purpose of the project is to carry water from the Colorado river on the western slope of the Rockies to the South Platte river basin in northeastern Colorado, east of the transcontinental divide. The water is to be used to irrigate 615,000 acres of land in the latter area.

Hope to Sell Surplus Power.

The secondary purpose of the scheme is to develop power. A great amount of power will remain after enough has been used to support pumping operations on the western slope, and it is the hope of the project's sponsors that this power can be sold commercially.

An account of the development of this project to a point where construction is soon to start furnishes a typical chapter in the history of present day America under the Roosevelt type of government. It shows the creation of a gigantic and expensive project, involving immense engineering difficulties, to meet the cries for assistance of a comparatively small but influential group.

The section in northeastern Colorado to be benefited by the project was rich farming land, all irrigated, until about ten years ago. There are 6,400 irrigated farms in the area.

Crops Show a Loss.

The water supply for the irrigation system began to lessen in 1925. The sugar beet, alfalfa, small grain, bean, corn, potato, and other crops began to show sizable losses. An annual crop loss of approximately $5,000,000 was being recorded.

In the spring of 1935 the Public Works administration allocated $150,000 to the bureau of reclamation to make surveys, prepare plans and cost estimates for bringing water from the headwaters of the Colorado river into the area in northeastern Colorado in need of supplemental water. The result was the proposal to draw the water through a tunnel under the transcontinental divide and to distribute it by a system of canals and reservoirs to the area in need.

The first request for $1,000,000 in 1936 to start construction on the project ran into difficulties with the bureau of the budget. The bureau insisted that some arrangement be made to form an irrigation district in order that some attempt might be made to repay the cost of the undertaking. That technicality was wiped out this year and both houses agreed last summer to a $900,000 initial appropriation.

The plan to cut a tunnel through thirteen miles of granite in the Rockies at an elevation of about 8,400 feet

WALKOUT SHUTS 12 SUBWAYS; BUSES STOPPED

Red Uprising Feared by Government.

PARIS, Dec. 29 [Wednesday].—(AP)—A general strike of public service workers—from street cleaners to subway operators—hit Paris today.

Its paralysis struck first in the intricate transportation system of 3,000,000 Parisians. All 12 of the capital's subway lines suspended operations just before the city stirred itself from sleep.

Quickly the movement spread to other modes of transportation. A municipal bus line official announced shortly after the rumble of the subways was stilled that all bus service was "indefinitly suspended."

Garbagemen and the men whose job it is to sweep the boulevards announced they had joined the walkout. Municipal hospital maintenance employés—but not nurses or internes—decided to join the swelling movement to the extent of two hour demonstrations each afternoon.

Strikers formed picket lines at the entrances to subway stations and bus terminals. Small forces of mobile guardsmen were deployed over the city. Interior Minister Marx Dormoy ordered the guardsmen out to prevent any disputes between the strikers and the public.

Picket Lines Formed.

The strike, a protest by the syndicate of public service workers against proposed wage reductions in the 1938 municipal budget, also bore a threat to the security of the People's Front government.

Premier Camille Chautemps, already under fire from the parliamentary opposition for the government's failure to settle a wide crop of strikes, especially in the food and trucking industries, faced the threat of an even stronger parliamentary protest in connection with the strike of municipal employés. A high government official hinted today's strike might be communist inspired.

Water Works Men May Quit.

Observers believe that the life of the Chautemps cabinet depends on the speed with which the government brings a labor peace.

Behind the broad front of the general strike also were municipal employés who maintain the metropolis' water, gas, and electricity supplies.

They were already committed to approval of the protest walkout, but it remained to be seen what actual steps they would take. With these workers joining the others Paris would be tied in a knot. Leaders of the movement said it was the intention of the central union organization—the intersyndical committee of public service workers—to halt utilities services until the Paris council eliminated the wage cuts from 1938 budget estimates.

REVOLUTION IS FEARED

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on page 2.)

PARIS, Dec. 28.—Paris was tense tonight with fear of revolution as a result of two major developments.

The first was the announcement of a general strike, to begin tomorrow morning, which will tie up all this city's public utilities, including the subway, bus lines, water, gas and electricity plants, garbage removal, hospitals and municipal charities.

The second was the revelation by one of the principal witnesses in the recent investigation of plotting by rightist members of Les Cagoulards [the hooded ones] of a plan for a communist uprising which was set for Nov. 15 but postponed.

Strike Called Over Wages.

The utilities strike was brought on by the failure of the municipal council to vote what the labor unions consider adequate salary raises to meet the rising cost of living. The council passed an ordinance increasing basic salaries by 50 francs [$1.70] monthly, which is only half as much as the raise the government recently accorded its civil service employés.

Delegates of the various unions met late tonight and made plans to assign militant workers to posts throughout the city to assure a thorough functioning of the strike and to maintain order. Skeleton crews will remain on duty in the water, gas, and electricity plants to maintain certain services such as street lighting, and hospitals will be protected. The

Lansing Board Gets Kick Back in Liquor Gifts

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Michigan's liquor control board became an Indian giver today when a call went out from its secretary, Irving Huston, to nearly 100 recipients of Christmas gift whisky either to return the liquor or pay for it.

The recall of the commission's gifts was ordered by Gov. Frank Murphy after he investigated complaints of distillers that the commission had billed them for a large quantity of expensive whisky which had been withdrawn from their stocks and given to state officials.

Promise to Return Liquor.

While the complete list of the commission's beneficiaries was not available, several department heads admitted receiving cases or packages of liquor. Many of them promised to return the liquor. Huston said he would have to pay for the liquor himself unless the commission stocks were replenished voluntarily.

Huston did not know the source of the complaints to the governor, but he hinted they had come from those dissatisfied with the commission's treatment. He and other commission members declared that yuletide gifts in previous years had been even more extensive.

Recall Practice in Past.

Commission spokesmen said it was their understanding that distillery agents in some cases in the past had virtually deluged state officials with gift liquor, apparently in an effort to influence commission purchases under the state's monopolistic control system. They believed, it was explained, that an equitable allotment of a relatively small amount of gift liquor among officials would be the lesser of two evils.

Huston indicated that at a meeting Thursday the commission would discuss an absolute ban on liquor gifts in the future by distillers' representatives.

26 STATES NOW ACT TO PREVENT HASTY WEDDINGS

Twenty-six states now have laws designed to prevent hasty marriages, it was shown yesterday in a survey by the Council of State Governments at the University of Chicago. During the last year nine states enacted or revised laws fixing a waiting period between the issuance of a marriage license and the wedding ceremony. The states are Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Minnesota, New York, Tennessee, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. Illinois' new law imposes a three day waiting period.

PANAY BOMBING FILM DELAYED ON PLANE JOURNEY ACROSS U. S.

FIRST PANAY PHOTOS!

The 4,500 foot movie film recording the bombing and sinking of the United States gunboat Panay by Japanese war planes was halted in its trip across the nation last night by adverse weather conditions which grounded at Cheyenne, Wyo., the chartered United Air Lines plane carrying the reels of pictures.

It was expected that the plane would take off again at 8:30 a. m. [Chicago time] and, weather permitting, would reach New York late this evening. There prints will be made from the sequences showing the bombing, the escape of the Panay's survivors, and machine gunning of the sinking vessel. Exclusive rights to the pictures have been bought for its member papers by the Associated Press Photo service, of which THE TRIBUNE is the only morning subscriber in Chicago.

Copies of the film also will be made for projection and will be sent by plane to Washington, where the President and officials of the state department will view them. The film arrived at Alameda, Cal., yesterday aboard a trans-Pacific clipper plane.

ARMY INVENTS DEVICE TO SPOT PLANES BY HEAT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A miracle machine which spots an airplane 20 miles away by the heat thrown off by the plane's motor is nearing perfection—amid great secrecy—at the hands of army engineers.

Experiments conducted at Fort Monmouth, N. J., have demonstrated its success, army men said today.

They described it as an extremely delicate heat detector which, through infra-red rays, can spot and follow the fastest pursuit plane, even if the plane has the engine shut down and is flying without lights. They said the exact location of the plane is determined within two seconds.

Santa's Bowl Full of Jelly Gets Him Stuck in Chimney

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The accident always feared by children—that Santa Claus might get stuck in a chimney—happened before their very eyes here. Santa started down a specially built chimney at a Salvation Army party last night and became wedged in the walls. Frantic attendants finally pulled him down. A hundred childish faces, lined with dismay, broke into smiles.

Add Some Bars to a Cowboy's Carefree Song

On Thanksgiving day of 1936 two policemen burst in upon a marriage feast that was being held at 6527 Kimbark avenue and said they were seeking Jack C. Russell.

"That's me," said the bridegroom, a husky young fellow of 36.

"We have a report," asserted one policeman, "that you are the Singing Cowboy who has held up a lot of people in Texas, Oklahoma, and Colorado. It is a legend that you always sing a little song as you go away with your victims' money."

"Haw, haw," said Mr. Russell. "That's a good one. I used to be a cowboy, but I can't sing. That yarn was made up by a gal I used to go with."

Bride Leaps to Rescue.

"That's right," said the bride, who had just changed her name from Mary Fields to Russell. "It was that Alice. I gave Jack $15 so he could send her home to Omaha and marry me."

It was indeed Alice who had been the informant, so the policemen declined a drink of the wedding wine and went away.

Mr. Russell changed the name of his wife's rooming house in which they were married from the Fields Manor to the Russell Arms and settled down to a career as man of the house. He laid carpets, acted as janitor and played the radio.

That is, he did until a few days ago, when he reverted to the ways of the wild west and threatened to shoot Mrs. Russell. She went to the detective bureau.

"That story about the Singing Cowboy is true," she asserted. "Jack Russell is the man."

A Shame, That's What!

Sergt. James Keeley went to the Russell Arms and arrested the cowboy, who muttered that it was a shame a man couldn't make a woman mad without having her accuse him of being a singer.

Last night Mrs. Russell called at the bureau. She had a clean shirt and a basket of fruit for Jack. She had come, she said, to take him back; she was mistaken about his robbery career.

"You're too late," the sergeant informed her. "We have just learned that in addition to those robbery charges in the southwest the government wants this Jack Russell for stealing an automobile in Joplin, Mo. The auto owner said he sang a song as he went away. And besides that, madam, a young woman has been in to identify Jack as a rapist."

Chicago Man's Name Stolen in Soviet Spy Plot

The first clew to the identity of the mysterious Donald L. Robinsons, American couple seized in Moscow by the GPU [secret police], became public yesterday with the discovery that a couple known as Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Adolph Rubens had stolen the name of a Chicagoan for passport purposes.

The Robinsons, suspected of being members of an international spy ring, disappeared from New York last October. The Rubens couple, government investigation has shown, disappeared at the same time. Strangely enough, both couples got their passports on the same day [April 3, 1936] in New York and under unusual circumstances.

Robinsons May Be Rubens.

The Robinson names, it was discovered, belonged to two New York children dead 22 years. Other coincidences uncovered in the investigation have led authorities to believe it possible the Robinsons and the Rubens may be one and the same.

The Chicagoan whose name was purloined by the Rubens couple is Charles Rudewitz, 35 years old, a machinist living at 2415 North Hamlin avenue. He is the son of Christian Rudewitz, an old Russian revolutionary who in 1908 attracted world attention when the United States refused to extradite him for a political murder in his homeland.

Calls Self Son of Rudewitz.

Rubens, in his application for his passport, represented himself as the son of Christian Rudewitz, who was naturalized in Cook county Feb. 24, 1916. Another court decree of Feb. 25, 1935, the stranger said, permitted him to change his name from Rudewitz to Rubens.

Examination of Circuit court records yesterday revealed the naturalization of Christian Rudewitz. The records also led to the discovery that a son, Adolph, is the one who now is known as Charles.

Charles Rudewitz told Postoffice Inspector W. O. Baumgardner he had never heard of any Rubens, nor had he ever changed his name. Neither he nor his younger brother, John, who lives at 3123 North Natoma avenue, could suggest how the mysterious Rubens learned the family history.

Found on Wisconsin Farm.

The old revolutionary, their father, was found at Gleason, Wis., engaged in the peaceful occupation of farming. He too could offer no clew. His daughter, Erna, Rudewitz said, still lives in their native Latvia, where she married a world war soldier who had changed his name to Barzin.

Although none of the Rudewitz clan had ever heard of Rubens, the latter apparently had had access to documents which disclosed sufficient family details for his use.

In applying for a passport, Rubens gave his birthplace as Cirole, Latvia [then in Russia], on Sept. 22, 1902. That is the birth record of Adolph Charles Rudewitz.

It was through the passport applications that state department officials saw another link between Robinson and Rubens. Passports for Robinson, his wife, and Rubens were the first issued in many years in the New York county clerk's office. They were issued by Louis Levy, commis-

PRISON AND FINE FOR EACH OF 36 MINE BOMBERS

Get 4 Years, $20,000, Limit Under Law.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Expressing regret that heavier punishment could not be given, Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle today imposed the maximum penalty of four years' imprisonment and $20,000 fines upon thirty-six men convicted in the recent bomb conspiracy case.

The defendants—all except two of whom are or were affiliated with the Progressive Miners of America—were found guilty by a small town farmer jury on Dec. 18 of interfering with interstate and foreign commerce and conspiring to obstruct the mails.

The case grew out of the civil war waged between Progressives and John L. Lewis' union, the United Mine Workers of America, in the Illinois coal fields from 1932 to 1935—a bloody strife that cost the state, business interests, and the miners themselves many millions of dollars.

All Are Returned to Jail.

After they were sentenced the three dozen men went back to jail while their attorneys planned to carry their case to the Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago tomorrow or Thursday. The men had been free on $10,000 bond each for their appearance in court today.

Judge Briggle denied in order motions for a new trial, arrest of judgment, a stay of sentence, and bail.

Then, in a sweeping denunciation from the bench, he criticized law enforcement officers, witnesses on both sides of the case who committed perjury, and a law that saved the grossly guilty ones from greater punishment.

Deplores Lax Law Enforcement.

"That law enforcing officers of the counties involved have failed to bring to justice those responsible for the many violations of state laws, ranging from assault to murder, is deplorable and a sad tribute to those charged with that responsibility," Judge Briggle said. "There can be no excuse for a like failure on the part of those charged with responsibility for the present proceedings."

He reproved witnesses on both sides for apparent perjury and urged authorities to continue their investigation of the case with a view to punishing such witnesses.

"Perjury was rampant in this case," the court declared. "When nearly every conceivable item of important evidence is supported by two separate and conflicting versions such discrepancies cannot be reconciled on the basis that honest men at times differ in the way they view a given circumstance."

Gives Reasons for Inequalities.

The judge commented that if a seeming inequality existed in the sentences, it was because there was no sufficient penalty available for those more deeply involved.

"The extreme penalty that I am authorized to impose is inadequate punishment for those who in any manner contributed to the ruthless destruction of property, as disclosed by the evidence here—all carried on in a campaign with reckless disregard for human life and human safety," declared Judge Briggle.

Among those sentenced are Earl Evans of Harrisburg, present Saline county sherif and a former member of the Progressive executive board; John Fancher of Springfield, vice president of the union; Jess Anderson of Harrisburg and Dan McGill of Springfield, board members, and John Taylor of Gillespie, member of the union relief committee.

Sentenced on Three Counts.

A two year sentence and a fine of $10,000 was imposed upon each of the thirty-six for conspiracy to obstruct the mails, while a year in jail and a fine of $5,000 was the punishment meted out on each of the two counts in the Sherman anti-trust indictment.

All of the sentences were decreed to run consecutively, but Judge Briggle amplified his ruling to provide that the sentences imposed upon Robert Robertson and John M. McDonald run concurrently with 5 to 25 years state sentences they already are serving in connection with the bombings.

During the five weeks' trial, 388 witnesses gave testimony concerning the five years of interunion warfare and terrorism which raged throughout the Illinois coal fields.

The defendants charged that their prosecution was in reality a persecution by John L. Lewis, czar of the now expiring Committee for Industrial Organization. Lewis has been the international president of the United Mine Workers for many years and took that union with him to form a nucleus for the C. I. O.

The Progressive union was formed, and the bloody rivalry followed, when a large group of miners rebeled against Lewis' dictatorial control of the U. M. W. A. Murders, bombings, and riots swept the coal fields after Lewis had divided the miners against themselves. It was charged that Lewis imported 10,000 miners into Illinois to do the work that should have been done by residents of this state.

Rival miners attacked each other at work. They bombed mine properties where their enemies labored. But most of the dynamitings, it was asserted, were directed at destroying the coal already mined by their rivals. This was accomplished most easily by bombing railroad cars hauling the coal and bridges which would interrupt that transportation.

Slayers Go Unpunished.

Sensational testimony given at the trial brought out numerous acts of brutal and wanton violence against miners. At one time Judge Briggle interrupted the testimony of a defendant, John Schneider of Springfield, to ask why there had been no prosecution of a murder the witness described.

Schneider testified that he was riding with the victim, Glenn Stuffiebeam, and could easily identify the automobile used by the slayers. He said that after Stuffiebeam was fatally shot as they drove to Springfield, he had seen a sawed off shotgun and two rifles in the killers' car and knew the license number of the automobile. Authorities had reported insufficient evidence in the case to warant an indictment on a murder charge.

SWINDLERS POSE AS POLICE; TAKE ARTIST'S $4,870

A man who identified himself as John E. Burgess, 44 years old, a Baltimore, Md., artist, told Central police yesterday that he had given $4,870 and $1,000 worth of jewelry to a group of swindlers who impersonated policemen and threatened to prosecute him for a sex offense.

On Nov. 1 in the Art institute, he said, he met a man who showed a badge and told him he was under arrest. Burgess said the stranger took him to several men who impersonated a police sergeant and detectives and made him put up a bond. He told his story after appearing at the City Hall and visiting the courts to determine when his trial would be held.

AMAZED CROWD WATCHES WHILE FOUR RAID BANK

Demotte, Ind., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Four young men were in an automobile that stopped in front of the Demotte State bank today. One, carrying a suitcase, went into the bank. Two more followed him.

In the bank the leader opened his suitcase and drew out a machine gun. Frank Hart, 75 years old, president of the bank, snatched a pistol and pulled the trigger. But he had forgotten to release the safety catch, and before he could get the gun working one of the bandits knocked him to the floor.

Picking up $2,500, the robbers fled, abandoning their car two miles south of town.

3 TAVERN OWNERS SUED BY WIDOW FOR $50,000 EACH

Suits for $50,000 each were filed against three Fox Lake tavern owners in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan yesterday by Mrs. Gertrude Ricketts. Mrs. Ricketts alleged that the tavern keepers sold her husband, Robb Roy Ricketts, Chicago art dealer, so much liquor that he was fatally injured in a fall last April 9.

Ricketts died two days after he fell down a stairway in one of the taverns. The tavern owners named in the suits were Mrs. Marion Allred, wife of a Chicago policeman; Vincent W. Koegler, and George C. Koeth.

PLANS FOR BIG NAVY STUDIED BY ROOSEVELT

Concerned Over World Events, He Says.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt disclosed officially today that he is considering a huge naval construction program because of the general international situation.

Two new battleships already have been included in the 1939 fiscal year budget, which calls for additional construction up to the limits of the defunct Washington and London treaties, but Mr. Roosevelt said he might submit supplementary estimates on a shipbuilding program exceeding those limits and that of the Vinson-Trammel act.

4 Cruisers to Visit Australia.

The President made his announcement, both at his regular press conference and in a letter to Chairman Edward T. Taylor [D., Colo.] of the house appropriations committee, shortly after the navy had announced plans to dispatch four cruisers to Sydney, Australia, early next year. The asserted purpose of the visit of the four cruisers in Asiatic waters is to observe the sesquicentennial of the Australian commonwealth, but they will call en route at Honolulu, Hawaii, and Pago Pago, American Samoa.

Naval officials said no significance should be attached to the projected voyage, but it was conceded in official quarters that Japan might have other ideas. There was some speculation whether the navy contemplated augmenting the Asiatic fleet after the courtesy visit to Australia.

State Department Still Rankled.

State department officials still are rankled over the Japanese destruction of the gunboat Panay and three American merchantmen, although the incident was practically closed after Japan acceded to this government's demands. Authorities now are concerned over reports that Japan is interfering with extraterritorial rights in China.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared at his press conference today that he was giving the matter of extraterritorial rights his full attention and had requested complete information from American representatives in Shanghai. He indicated he was not fully advised as to whether the Japanese military authorities had sought to interfere with the powers of the United States court and the international court at Shanghai.

Concerned, Says Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt authorized the release of his letter to Chairman Taylor, which asked that the members of the appropriations committee be advised as follows:

"The preliminary estimates submitted by the director of the budget to the naval subcommittee were prepared some time ago and called for appropriations to commence during the fiscal year 1939 two battleships two light cruisers, eight destroyers, and six submarines.

"Since that time world events have caused me growing concern. Under the constitution the President is commander in chief of the army and navy and has, therefore, a very specific duty to safeguard the defense of national interests.

Points to Arms Race.

"In speaking of my growing concern, I do not refer to any specific nation or to any specific threat against the United States. The fact is that in the world as a whole many nations are not only continuing but are enlarging their armament programs. I have used every conceivable effort to stop this trend and to work toward a decrease of armaments. Facts, nevertheless, are facts, and the United States must recognize them.

"Will you, therefore, be good enough to inform the subcommittee on naval appropriations that after the next session of the congress has met it is possible that I may send supplementary estimates for commencing construction on a number of ships additional to the above program.

"Very sincerely yours,

Uncertain on Legislation.

At his press conference Mr. Roosevelt said he did not know whether additional authorization legislation, or repeal of the Vinson-Trammel act, would be necessary for a new naval construction program beyond provisions of the budget estimates already submitted. He assumed, however, that such legislation would be necessary if he were to ask for vessels not falling in the specific categories of the existing law. The Vinson-Trammel act limited the United States construction program to the limits of the Washington and London treaties, now defunct.

The two light cruisers, eight destroyers, and six submarines for which budget estimates already have been submitted are required to bring the navy up to the old treaty limits. However, the two new battleships and the two already under construction are called replacements for four of the existing fifteen capital ships that will be too old for effective service by 1941.

87 Vessels Under Construction.

The naval budget on which members of the house appropriations committee already are working calls for a total expenditure in the 1939 fiscal year of $576,000,000, including $120,000,000 for the two new 35,000 ton superdreadnaughts. This appropriation would be some $50,000,000 higher than the amount made available for the current fiscal year. The navy has under construction a total of eighty-seven war vessels.

Members of the house appropriations committee indicated a willingness to ignore budget balancing demands if necessary to let the world know we are able to take care of ourselves, as Chairman Taylor put it.

Wishes to Be Followed.

Representative Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.] chairman of the naval appropriations subcommittee, said the administration's wishes in the matter of naval construction would be adhered to by both the committee and the house. He said he favored greater emphasis on aircraft carriers and the air strength of both the army and the navy, but said that navy officials are in a position to exercise better judgment.

In response to questions as to whether an enlarged fleet could be properly manned, the President said it could be quickly brought up to war strength by calling to duty officers and men of the naval reserve. The fleet now carries a complement of 85 per cent of the wartime strength, he said.

AMERICANS TOLD TO FLEE CENTRAL CHINA WAR ZONES

Japanese Threaten to Push Drive in Interior.

KULING, China, Dec. 29 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Wholesale evacuation of the large number of Americans and other foreigners in Kuling [central China] was requested today by consular officials at Hankow, China's temporary capital, 135 miles northwest.

The consuls feared the probable spread of Chinese-Japanese warfare up the Yangtze to Kiukiang, Kuling's river outlet, would endanger foreign citizens remaining in this mountain resort near Lake Poyang.

The consular plan called for evacuation of all foreigners, including the entire membership of the American school, by boat to Hankow and their immediate entrainment for Hongkong aboard an international refugee train. Hongkong lies about 600 miles due south of Hankow.

Threatens Drive in Interior.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 29 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Gen. Iwane Matsui, the Japanese commander, threatened today to press Japan's attack 1,000 miles into China's interior.

Americans at Tsingtao, on the North China coast, at the same time were fleeing from a threatened attack by another arm of the Japanese army striking swiftly across Shantung province.

Unless the Chinese government ends "its anti-Japanese policies," Matsui warned, Japanese forces "may find it necessary" to advance to Hankow and Chungking and "may repudiate the national government of China."

Chungking, about 1,000 miles inland in a direct line from the coast, is up the Yangtze river from Hankow, midland metropolis where the Chinese government moved from Nanking, its fallen capital.

Drive Nearer to Tsingtao.

The United States gunboat Sacramento was expected here tomorrow with about forty-five American refugees from Tsingtao. The United States cruiser Marblehead and destroyer Pope were standing by to evacuate about 250 other Americans, some of whom were expected, however, to flee aboard small coastal steamers.

The fall of Tsingtao appeared inevitable after Japanese troops occupied Tsinan, the provincial capital, and extended their line to within 100 miles of the coast. Japanese possession both of Tsinan, about 200 miles west of Tsingtao, and Weihsien, half way between, severed railroad communications.

Seek Hidden Arms.

In Shanghai, Japanese authorities declared they were dissatisfied with efforts of the municipal council to rid the international settlement of hidden arms. Officials, who have decreed military law for Japanese dominated areas, insisted there must be effective police measures before Shanghai can return to normal.

The Japanese army claimed "in principle" the right to arrest and try all persons committing crimes against Japan's armed forces even in Shanghai's international settlement and French concession.

The Japanese army spokesman who announced the policy said, however, that Japanese would proceed cautiously in any case where it was applied against Americans and other foreigners holding the treaty right to be tried by courts of their own nations.

Asked the basis of the Japanese claim, the spokesman said it was "de facto" military occupation and specified it would be enforced in occupied territory. He did not answer whether Japanese claimed occupation of the international areas.

[Reports from Macao, Portuguese colony near Hongkong on the South China coast, said a Japanese cruiser had shelled Wongkam Island over which Portugal claims jurisdiction. Two hundred Japanese bluejackets were said to have landed on Wongkam, across the Canton river estuary from Hongkong.]

Japanese planes yesterday raided a wide area, virtually destroying the main street of Kinhwa, capital of Chekiang province since the fall of Hangchow; disrupting service on the Canton-Hankow railroad by blowing up a bridge at Yingtak, Kwangtung province; and bombing Chinese hangars in Kwangtung and Anhwei provinces.

Reveals French Plot

Eugene de l'Oncle, leader of Les Cagoulards (the hooded ones), whose testimony in recent investigation of the organization threatened France with revolution yesterday. He told of plotting by rightist members for a communist uprising which was set for last Nov. 15 but was postponed.

SCRUTINIZE JAP ACTION

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Experts on international law in the British foreign office tonight were examining the juridical position of foreigners in Shanghai and the steps taken by Japanese military officials to bring them under Japanese authority.

Japan's claim to jurisdiction over the international settlement and French concession in Shanghai and the statements that it would take steps to enforce the protection of its military interests there created a new and complicated situation. While certain rights normally are conceded to a military force of occupation, in the present instance, it was pointed out, no recognized state of war exists.

Reply to British Protest.

The Japanese reply to the British protest against attacks on her gunboats on the Yangtze river on Dec. 12 was presented to the British ambassador to Tokio tonight. The British government was asked not to publish details of the note regarding the disciplinary action taken against the Japanese commanders responsible for the attacks.

Tokio's imperial headquarters issued a statement saying the attacks were a "mistake" and expressing regrets. It was explained that Japanese artillery officers along the Yangtze between Nanking and Wuhu believed foreign nationals had evacuated the zone of fighting.

UTILITY STRIKE TIES UP PARIS; FEAR RED PLOT

hospital strike is to be "symbolic," from 2 to 4 p. m.

The utilities workers, although they actually are employés of private enterprises that operate under government concessions, were placed on the same footing as civil service workers thirty years ago. Now they argue that they should get the same adjustment in pay. Both classes of workers received pay increases of 1,500 to 1,800 francs [$50 to $60] yearly after the last fall in the value of the franc.

Regarding the alleged communist plot, which has been feared ever since the advent of the present leftist Popular Front government, a detailed account of the Red organization for capturing the city was given in testimony by Eugene de l'Oncle before Examining Magistrate Beteille, who is investigating the Cagoulards. De l'Oncle was a leader of that organization, which is alleged to have planned to overthrow the republic, establish a dictatorship, and restore the monarchy.

Charges Plot to Kill Leaders.

De l'Oncle testified that three or four days before the alleged communist uprising was due to begin on Nov. 15 he informed Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the general staf of the French army; Edouard Daladier, minister of defense, and Maj. Gen. Georges, assistant chief of staf, and that they were not surprised, accepting his information as corroboration of what they already knew. De l'Oncle said the soviet Russian ambassador was one of the directors of the plot.

De l'Oncle said that fifteen minutes before the time set for the Reds to seize the city, former Premier Leon Blum, Minister of Interior Marx Dormoy, and Jean Lebas, minister of posts, telegraphs and telephones, were to have been assassinated in such a manner as to throw suspicion on the nationalists.

As a reprisal the communists then would execute Edouard Daladier, minister of defense; Francois Pietri, former minister of marine, and various nationalist leaders.

BLAZE SHUTS OFF BUFFALO POWER; TIES UP BIG AREA

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—The complex activity of a modern city was stalled for more than six hours in most of the Buffalo area today when fire at the city's huge steam generating power plant interrupted electric service.

The fire, which started this morning, was extinguished in less than two hours, but it was not until late this afternoon that workmen were able to restore service with emergency power from Niagara Falls.

SPANISH TROOPS CAPTURE REBEL CITADEL BY RUSE

Tunnel Way Into Seminary; Defenders Flee.

MADRID, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A Spanish government statement tonight reported that government shock troops had occupied the rebel defended seminary at Teruel, one of the last three rebel citadels in that strategic city on the eastern front. The city was captured by government forces last week.

The besieged rebels, who had held out in the seminary for six days, were reported to have retreated to a yard in the adjacent convent of Santa Clara. Both the convent and the seminary were reported in flames.

Enter Through Tunnel.

The number of rebels within the seminary was uncertain. They were believed to be part of the 6,800 Fascists, men, women, and children, who remained behind when the rebel forces were driven from the city. The two other rebel strongholds in Teruel are the civil government palace and the Bank of Spain building.

Dispatches from Barcelona said the government troops fought their way into the seminary through one of the ancient tunnels that honeycomb the foundations of most Teruel buildings.

While detachments above ground assaulted the walls with hand bombs and machine guns, a mining crew dug steadily for three days beneath the huge structure.

Then government soldiers made a surprise entry from the tunnel through a floor opening. The startled rebel defenders failed to rally as more government troops poured in.

Rebels Led by Bishop.

The rebels, who were reported to have been led by Col. Domingo Rey and the bishop of Teruel, sided hastily into the convent and adjacent buildings, but managed to plug with large stone blocks the apertures through which they escaped.

Government officers posted sentries armed with hand bombs and machine guns at strategic points in the sprawling seminary, for it was thought that several hundred rebels might still be hiding on the upper floors.

The government statement said the rebels still were entrenched at the civil government palace, which was reported to be in flames, but expressed confidence they would "not be able to hold out much longer."

Says French Land in Minorca.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos declined today to deny "rumors" in the French senate that a division of French troops had landed on the island of Minorca, last Balearic stronghold of the Spanish government in the Mediterranean.

Senator Henry Lemery, rightist and a former minister of justice, said there had been "rumors" of such a maneuver and said to Delbos he hoped to "have a denial from the government." Lemery also said foreign volunteers for the Spanish government forces were being recruited in French territory.

Delbos said only, 'I protest against the allegations of Senator Lemery."

NEW STATE PACT SENDS PAROLEE BACK TO PRISON

CRIMINAL COURT.

Raymond Morgan, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

The first application in Chicago of a reciprocal agreement among twenty states abolishing extradition rights in cases involving paroled convicts was effected yesterday before Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Felony court. Eastman Hunt, 62 years old, was turned over to C. J. Brayman, an officer at the Jackson, Mich., prison.

Hunt had just finished serving a sentence of one year and a fine of $100 imposed Nov. 12, 1936 for passing worthless checks. Upon his release from the Bridewell he was taken before Judge Graber, where, on the advice of Assistant Attorney General George S. Lavin, he was turned over to the custody of Brayman.

Hunt objected to removal to Michigan but learned from Judge Graber that he was not entitled to an extradition hearing. He was paroled in 1933 after serving three years and two months of a sentence for passing bogus checks.

Christmas Tree in a Foundry

Their Work Goes On

Countless thousands have seen the big Christmas tree that brightens Tribune square. But another tree that the casual passerby doesn't see is the one almost as big down in THE TRIBUNE'S sterotype department, half a floor below the street level.

The fifty men who work in the department contribute every year to buy and outfit the tree that casts its glow over a roomful of clanking machinery and vats of molten metal.

DANCE GIRLS WIN RIGHT TO BEG FOR IMITATION BEER

It is legal and perfectly good manners for a taxi dance hall hostess to murmur coyly to a male patron, "Honey, buy me a drink"—provided the beverage she gets hasn't enough alcohol to be rated intoxicating.

This fine spun point was settled yesterday when Judge John V. McCormick of the Women's court dismissed nineteen young women arrested in the State dancing school at 525 South State street, on charges of disorderly conduct and violating the ordinance against drink begging.

The policemen who made the raid on the place asserted that they had been asked to buy beers and had done so for some of the girls. The management claimed, at the time of the arrests, that the police had been mistaken—the beers they were asked to pay for were not beers but near beers. Police sent samples of the drinks to a chemist.

His message was that the beer dasn't even very near. It was a pale imitation of beer, and no dance hall lady could get mildly exhilarated by it.

Seven Institutions to Get Century of Progress Cash

Affairs of A Century of Progress Exposition will be formally closed today before Judge James F. Fardy when checks will be distributed to representatives of seven public agencies and philanthropic institutions. The checks, disposing of a surplus of about $160,000 will go to the Art institute, Museum of Science and Industry, Adler Planetarium, Chicago park district, Archeological Trust [trustees of the Lama Temple of Jehol], Chicago Regional Planning association, and the Smithsonian institution.

NEW DAY DAWNS AND 'FREE STATE' NOW IS 'IRELAND'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, Dec. 29 [Wednesday].—A 21 gun salute today announced to the people that the name "Irish Free State" is a memory and that a new name and new constitution are in effect.

The twenty-six southern counties are known as Eire in Gaelic and Ireland in English. The six northern counties remain as before, Northern Ireland, and apart from the Dublin government. The new constitution provides for a dail eireann [house of representatives] and seanad eireann [senate], an elected president and appointed prime minister.

Eamon de Valera, who was known as president and now becomes prime minister until a president of Ireland is elected, today attended, with other officials, a votive mass at the cathedral. He will speak to the nation and Irish abroad at 7:45 o'clock tonight [1:45 p. m., Chicago time]. Parades and bonfires tonigh will continue the celebration.

ENVOY DODD QUITS BERLIN; NAZIS' FAREWELL CHILLY

Chief of Protocol Omits Usual Ceremony.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—(AP)—William E. Dodd, resigning United States ambassador, departed for the United States today with Mrs. Dodd—more unceremoniously than any previously departing American envoy.

The chill of the farewell was in keeping with the relations between the ambassador and the German government, especially strained since Dodd objected to American official representation at the Nazi party congress last September in Nuremberg.

Sends Word to Foreign Office.

With only the male personnel of the embassy and consulate present in the Dodd apartment to say goodby, the couple slipped quietly into a car and drove to Hamburg to board the liner Washington. It leaves tomorrow.

Not even the chief of protocol of the German foreign office was present when the Dodds left, although customarily he receives and bids goodby to the heads of diplomatic missions. Dodd sent word yesterday that he did not know exactly when he would depart and suggested the foreign office should not bother.

Chicago Professor of History.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler did not receive the American envoy as is customary when most ambassadors go away permanently. The usual farewell luncheon or dinner given by Konstantin von Neurath, foreign minister, did not materialize.

Dodd was assigned to Berlin June 13, 1933. He is professor emeritus of American history at the University of Chicago.

New Turn in Investigation Mystifies Officials.

sioner of deeds, he said, at the personal direction of Albert Marinelli, Tammany district leader, who resigned as clerk under fire from Prosecutor-Elect Thomas E. Dewey.

Mrs. Rubens, however, obtained her passport through a recognized passport agency in New York. She appeared later in the county clerk's office to identify her husband as Rubens.

Passage Never Used.

Mrs. Rubens seems to be the only figure in the case of whom anything is known. As the former Ruth Boerger of South Jamaica, N. Y. she was recently married. Her relatives have asked the state department to ascertain if she is the Mrs. Robinson held in Russia.

Robinson and his wife booked passage on the Italian liner Rex, sailing Oct. 11. This passage was never used, but Adolph and Ruth Rubens appear on the passenger list. No trace of them has been found since they disembarked at Naples. The Robinsons arrived in Moscow on Nov. 6.

Her Sisters Uninformed.

Sisters of Mrs. Rubens in New York said they knew little of her husband. He had ample but unexplained resources, they said, was actively interested in promoting communism, and caused Ruth to become absorbed in the same subject.

In another New York circle, it was reported, moved the mysterious Robinsons, also communist sympathizers. Like Rubens, Robinson too had a plentiful but mysterious income.

Passport Mystery

SUBURBAN PHONE COMPANY TOLD TO REDUCE RATES

Telephone subscribers in Park Ridge and Des Plaines, who are customers of the Middle States Telephone company, will be permitted to obtain a new service providing for reduced suburban toll rates similar to that to be made available to other Chicago suburbs on Jan. 1. This was announced yesterday by James M. Slattery, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

Under a recent commission order the Illinois Bell Telephone company is to reduce toll rates by 20 to 30 per cent within the 15 cent call zone. The same order will apply to the Middle States company, an independent concern, in Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

DICK HOPES WE HAVE FOOD LIKE THAT AT RACINE

They were pretty nice to Richard Eugene Beigert at the detention home in Racine last year when he was sent there for running away from his parents in Belvidere Gardens, Cal. Especially the matron, Mrs. William Davis. She made a big hit with Richard. He liked her cooking, too.

In fact, they were so nice to Richard, who is 14 now, that on Dec. 10 he decided to hike back and see them. He did. He spent the yuletide with his Wisconsin friends and started thumbing his way back home.

He was doing all right until the county highway police at Willow Springs picked him up. They will turn him over to juvenile authorities today. Richard is hoping that the Cook county matron will start him home with as lavish an assortment of food as Mrs. Davis did. He had nearly enough to take him to California.

EX-CROWN PRINCE DRAWN INTO NAZI FIGHT ON JEWS

Anti-Jewish Poster Is Banned at Castle.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—Former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Germany found himself today right in the middle of Garmany's war on Jews.

"The Jewish question will remain the world's greatest problem when the administration of the crown prince's estates has ceased to exist and long has been forgotten," said Der Stuermer, newspaper of Julius Streicher, Nazi anti-semitic leader.

Banned Paper at Castle.

Der Stuermer's anger was aroused because the administrator of the crown prince's estates refused to permit Der Stuermer to attach its show case to walls of Bernstadt castle in Silesia "with the ridiculous excuse that it could damage the ivy."

Der Stuermer further was annoyed by the remark of the administrator that the "crown prince's administration has nothing to do with the Jewish question."

"Boycott every Jewish shop" was the advice given by Streicher in posters displayed throughout Nuremberg. The posters referred to the "Jewish world boycott organized in New York by Untermyer [Samuel Untermyer, attorney, president of Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League to Champion Human Rights]."

Urges New Boycott of Jews.

Further reference was made to the Jewish weekly paper Renasterea Noastra in Bucharest, Rumania, which warned against the purchase of children's toys made in Germany "and especially in the town and province where the sadist beast Streicher is lord and hangman of the Jews."

Streicher said the only right answer of Nuremberg and Franken people can be to boycott Jewish shops.

"No German shall cross the threshold of a Jewish shop or spend a cent in it. Whoever does so is a henchman and comrade of Jews and a traitor to the German people. The Jew incites to boycott—let him have it," Streicher said.

Catholics of India Meet at Eucharistic Conference

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

MADRAS, India, Dec. 28.—Roman Catholics are pouring into Madras from all parts of India for the national eucharistic conference beginning tomorrow. Already some 40,000 have arrived. Great crowds welcomed the papal legate at the station this afternoon. The conference will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Rome's heirarchy in India.

DEWEY NAMES YOUNG ASSISTANTS; 32 YEARS IS AVERAGE FOR STAF

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney-elect of New York county, today announced appointment of fourteen assistant district attorneys who will begin their duties when he assumes office Saturday. The appointments indicate Mr. Dewey will have the youngest staf of any New York City district attorney in recent decades. The average age of those so far selected is 32 years. Those on the staf of District Attorney William C. Dodge average about 44 years old.

Eleven of Dewey's assistants are Republicans, two are members of the American Labor party, and one is a Democrat. The fourteen appointments bring to twenty the total number of appointments. Mr. Dewey previously announced appointment of three of his chief assistants in the rackets investigations and the retention of three members of Mr. Dodge's staf.

HEIRESS FREED IN PISTOL DEATH OF HER MOTHER

Youngstown, O., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Louise Campbell was cleared today by Coroner J. C. Henshaw of Trumbull county in the death of her mother, Mrs. Cordelia Campbell. The daughter shot and fatally wounded her mother during a gay Christmas eve party.

Miss Campbell, granddaughter of the late James A. Campbell, former head of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, was freed from the Trumbull county jail at Warren, where she had spent seventy-nine hours. She attended funeral services for her mother, which were unexpectedly advanced to 11 o'clock this morning.

KING'S FAMILY BALKS AT MAKING WALLY 'HIGHNESS'

Women Forbid George VI. to Raise Her Rank.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 28.—King George VI. of Great Britain has decided upon the social ranking of the duchess of Windsor, a well informed source said tonight, but the decision may be kept secret if she does not encounter another duchess socially. Then a ruling would be imperative.

Queen Mother Mary, mother of the king and of his brother, the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, added her veto to the vetoes of Queen Elizabeth and high court circles on the title "royal highness," which had been expected to be a royal New Year's gift to the duchess of Windsor.

King George Compromises.

At present it is understood to have been decided that the duchess ranks the same as her husband when they are together, but ranks as last—twenty-ninth—duchess if she attends a function without him.

The college of heralds usually is the authority on such matters and it studied this problem for days. Since it was without precedent and intimately affected the royal family, the college referred the matter to the king. He is the "fountain of all honor" and so has the final say in all knotty problems of this sort, with a certain amount of direction from cabinet ministers and other high officials.

The king, it was understood, was willing to settle the matter by giving the duchess of Windsor the prefix "royal highness" and a rank after that of the duchess of Kent as eighth lady of the land.

Women in Family Balk.

It was the women of the royal family, supposedly, who, supported by the diehard old guard at the court, would not hear of it.

It is not believed the compromise will satisfy Edward, and many persons in British society believe no real end will be put to the argument and the danger of unpleasantness until and unless the duchess of Windsor becomes a royal highness.

Remove Swallowed Spoon; Girl Resting Comfortably

Miss Bernice Gurevitz, 17 years old, was reported to be resting comfortably yesterday at the American hospital where she was operated on Monday for the removal of a six inch teaspoon she swallowed Christmas day at her home, 1136 North Francisco avenue.

Chicago Convict Strikes Stateville Prison Doctor

William Yuzemas, 28 years old, a Chicago convict, stepped out of a line of marching convicts in Stateville penitentiary yesterday, struck Dr. F. J. Schmelik, one of the prison physicians, on the mouth, and stepped back into his place. He is one of 100 convicts awaiting transfer to the prison for the criminally insane at Menard. He was sentenced to one year to life for armed robbery.

MOUNTAIN FOLK STILL SET THEIR NEWS TO MUSIC

Recent Tennessee Ballads Are Now Recorded.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Ballad making is not dead. It still survives, and in a flourishing manner, in the mountains of Tennessee. Nor does any important event escape the verses of the minstrels of the hills.

Since July 1, Edwin C. Kirkland, instructor of English at the University of Tennessee, has recorded 275 folk ballads from eastern Tennessee and North Carolina on acetate disks. Many of them date back to the 13th century; many of them, however, have been composed within the last decade.

Takes Hour Off to Sing.

Prof. Kirkland today will tell delegates to the Modern Language association's fifty-fourth annual meeting of discovering a new American version of the ancient "Sir Patrick Spens"; of recording thirteen stanzas of "Barbara Allen," and of a sixteen stanza "Robin Hood and Little John," but yesterday he took an hour off to sing, in true mountaineer fashion, a few of the new compositions.

These range from the famous Scopes evolution trial at Dayton, Tenn., to Bruno Hauptmann's death and the abandonment of Clinch river valley for the Tennessee Valley authority. None, he said, may properly be called a ballad, as a ballad must be handed down for centuries. All, however, are "folk songs possibilities."

Time Tempers Sentimentalism.

"The modern ones, of course, have very little literary value," he apologized. "The old ones do. They tell a story, always dramatic, and usually a dialog. The new ones, though, are too full of sentimentality. They're not sifted out yet.

"That's one thing oral transmission does. If a song is too sentimental, the people will stop singing it, or else change it. The good songs, like the good jokes, are passed on forever."

Prof. Kirkland's favorite, he admitted, deals with the Scopes trial, and is sung to the tune of "We'll Be Coming' Round the Mountain."

Two of Many Verses.

Although he had no banjo, the professor struck out easily into the first verses:

Oh, the folks in Tennessee
Are as faithful as can be.
They believe in God above
And His great undying love,
And they know they are protected by His might.

Then to Dayton came a man
With his ideas so grand
And he said "we sprang from monkeys long ago."
But in teaching his belief
Mister Scopes found only grief
For they would not let their old religion go . . .

"It has endless verses," he concluded. "I don't know them all. Another new one is about the old age pension. The boy who composed it is about 25. He said he composed the music, too, but my wife and I found it in an old book of ballads. Doubtless the tune was in the back of his head."

A Rollicking Ballad.

This one is more rollicking:

When the old age pension check comes to our door,
We won't have to dread the poorhouse any more.
Then old maids will tell their age
And dear old grammaw won't be lonesome sore.

I'll grow a long white beard and get a cane,
Because you're in your second childhood don't complain.
All the drug stores will be bankrupt on that day
And cosmetics will all be put away . . .

They Use Their Own Picks.

Two ballads of governmental developments were lugubrious. They are "Cove Creek Dam" and "Clinch River Valley," both dealing with the evacuation of land needed by the TVA for Norris dam.

"Wherever you find a large family, you'll find ballads handed down or new ones made up," he concluded. "Every boy or man carries a banjo pick along with him. He'll borrow somebody else's banjo, but he'll use his own pick. They still like to sing and compose, and they do."

BLAMES A MR. X. FOR SERIES OF MARITAL WOES

Taught Wife Bad Habits, Executive Charges.

Allegations that the habits of his estranged wife were influenced for the worse by a certain "Mr. X" were made in an answer and cross bill for divorce filed yesterday in the Circuit court by Philo A. Orton, president of the Orton Crane and Shovel company.

The wife, Mrs. Marie M. Orton, who is 61 years old, filed a suit for separate maintenance on Dec. 2. They were married on Sept. 6, 1898. Mrs. Orton alleged that her husband deserted her on Oct. 13, 1933, and had since contributed only $100 a month to her support.

Tells Appearance of Mr. X.

In his reply, Orton said that his mother-in-law and other relatives had lived in his house for years. He added that in 1932 Mrs. Orton returned from Florida with Mr. X, and that they evicted a nephew of Orton from the home that X might have roomy quarters. This personage, whom Orton promised to name if requested to do so by the court, is alleged to have remained for months as a member of the household.

Under his influence, the cross bill charged, Mrs. Orton developed habits of smoking and drinking and also used bad language. Orton asserted that he left the house because Mr. X was there.

Wife Gives Her Side.

Mrs. Orton, who lives at 5204 Greenwood avenue, said last night that she did not drink or use any expletives more forceful than "darn." She admitted that she had at one time persuaded her husband's nephew to leave her home, but it was at Orton's request and he thanked her for doing it. She denied that there was any Mr. X who had influenced her habits in the least. A woman friend and her husband had once stayed with her for a month, she said, and she supposed this was the incident to which her husband referred.

Orton, who is 64 years old and a resident of the Stevens hotel, declared that his salary was $700 a month, instead of $800, as Mrs. Orton alleged in her bill. He objected to turning over any of his funds to her, suggesting that she was in good health and capable of earning her own income.

The Ortons are the parents of three sons, Philo A. Jr., 38 years old; Raymond E., 33, and Charles L., 31.

Joseph Splawski, 47 years old, who was brought here from Lawrence, Mass., by the Chicago police after serving a prison sentence there, will appear in the Felony court today on a charge of swindling Joseph Sikorski, 2433 Bosworth avenue, out of $10,000 in 1930 through the sale of a fake money making machine.

BLUE ISLAND TAX MERRY-GO-ROUND UPSET BY COURT

$77,200 Already Levied to Pay $18,000 Bonds.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki ruled yesterday that the village of Blue Island, which in 37 years has levied $77,200 taxes to pay for two bond issues totaling only $18,000, cannot legally collect more taxes for the retirement of the obligations.

The unusual situation was disclosed two weeks ago when objections to the levying of further taxes to retire the bonds were heard.

It was shown by Attorney Robert N. Holt, representing objectors, that sufficient money to pay off the bonds several times over has been collected. One issue, it was revealed, was originally sold in 1884, refunded in 1899, and again refunded in 1919. Another issue was put out in 1900 and refunded in 1920. Through the years from 1900 on, the village was collecting for the retirement of the bonds

Holds 1935 Levy Illegal.

Judge Jarecki held yesterday that inclusion in the village's 1935 tax levy of $2,950 for interest and principal payments on the bonds was illegal. He said that while the 1936 levy already is in, village officials should abate the item on the 1937 levy.

"If this is not abated the state's attorney will be obliged to take some action," the judge said. "This delinquency on the part of former village officials borders on the criminal."

Improper diversion of bond funds for other purposes in past years was the explanation offered by Attorney Paul R. Schreiber, representing the village, for the failure to retire the bonds.

Corporate Fund Gets Slice.

He said that village records show that of $71,438 collected on the bond levies $36,760 has gone for payment of interest on the bonds, $26,912 was transferred improperly to the general corporate fund, $5,000 went for principal retirement and $2,764 is now on hand in a sinking fund for payment of the issues. The balance of the levies, $5,763, was never collected, he said.

"I agree that former officials had no right to transfer money to the general corporate fund," Schreiber told Judge Jarecki. "It was all done prior to 1933 when the present administration came into office. The present officials are careful to break down and segregate the bond money collected."

SEEKS TO DIVORCE DR. F. R. MOULTON, NOTED SCIENTIST

Charging desertion, Mrs. Estelle Moulton, 6227 Woodlawn avenue, yesterday filed suit for divorce in the Circuit court against Dr. Forest Ray Moulton, noted scientist and former head of the astronomy department of the University of Chicago. Mrs. Moulton, who is 63 years old, charged that her husband deserted her ten years ago.

Dr. Moulton resigned at the University of Chicago in 1927 to become an executive of the Utilities Power and Light corporation. He has lived recently in Washington.

O. K. 32 MILLIONS TO PUMP WATER OVER MOUNTAIN

Will Run Down One Side to Lift It Up Other.

was the outstanding feature of the project for a long time. Only recently has the perpetual motion part of the scheme attracted fascinated attention.

In order to make workings of the project clear, a somewhat detailed statement of it must be made. This will be presented in language simplified as much as possible from the technical engineering descriptions.

By a system of diversion dams and canals, Colorado river waters are to be directed to a great reservoir known as the Granby reservoir, just south of Rocky Mountain National park. The dam creating this reservoir is to be a combination earth and rockfill structure with a maximum height of 223 feet. It will have a capacity of close to 500,000 acre feet [an acre of water one foot deep] and will flood approximately 7,000 acres.

Pump It Up Into Lake.

The water in this reservoir is to be carried northward to Grand Lake, just outside the western portal of the mountain tunnel. But the water surface of the latter has an elevation of 8,369 feet, whereas the water surface elevation of the reservoir is but 8,275.

It became necessary to establish a pumping plant and feeder canal at the Granby reservoir to pump the water up the hill to the portal of the tunnel. The cost of this was discovered to be $1,667,000.

Here it was that the ingenuity of the planners came into play. Why not, they reasoned, use the power generated by the water flowing down hill on the eastern slope to pump the water up the western slope? And that is what they plan to do.

After the pumped-up water has flowed through its concrete tunnel, 9½ feet in diameter, some 13 miles in a northeasterly direction, it emerges near the site of Estes park. Five miles from the eastern end of the tunnel power plant No. 1 is to be built. Generating power from the force of the current, it will transmit that energy through a 69,000 volt transmission line running back over the mountain divide to the Granby pumping plant. And the circle will have been completed!

"Starter" Must Be Purchased.

Of course, like most perpetual motion machines, something has to start it going. Some initial power will be needed to pump the water uphill before the water can run down hill again and generate power. This power will be purchased from the Public Service Company of Colorado, which has a steam generating plant.

This public service company figures also in the future plans of the administration. Having acted its modest part in setting the project in motion, it is expected to act as a customer for surplus power generated by power plant No. 1 and four other power plants contemplated in the future on the eastern slope.

Power plant No. 1 is expected to have an average annual output of 207 million kilowatt hours, of which the Granby pumping plant will require only 48 million kilowatt hours. So there will be plenty of surplus power for northeastern Colorado upon completion of the first plant and an unpredictable amount if the other four power plants are built.

Water from the Colorado river on the western slope (left) of the Rockies is to be carried to the South Platte river basin in northeastern Colorado (right), east of the continental divide. The 13 mile tunnel is to be 4,000 feet under the peaks. Power created by the water running down the eastern slope is expected to operate the pumps on the western slope. It is the hope of the project sponsors that there will be a surplus of power that can be sold commereially.

ROOSEVELT PLANS STATE OF UNION ADDRESS MONDAY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt said today that his annual message to congress on the state of the Union—awaited with equal interest by his left wing advisers and the business community because of the new depression—would be delivered personally next Monday, shortly after the regular session convenes.

At his press conference the President declined to discuss business conditions, the new stock market lows, or the prospective layoff of 30,000 men by the General Motors corporation. He was believed, however, to have discussed economic conditions and the subject matter of his message today with Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell and Bernard M. Baruch.

Tugwell had nothing to say on leaving the White House, insisting that his call was a social one. Baruch declared that conditions are not as good as he would like to see them, but said they are not desperate.

"In my opinion, with wisdom and forbearance we can pull out of this," Baruch added.

The President said his budget message would be sent to congress either next Tuesday or Wednesday.

VAN DEVANTER TO PRESIDE IN N. Y. FEDERAL COURT

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Willis Van Devanter, 78 years old, a retired justice of the United States Supreme court, will preside in the federal court of the southern district of New York, starting in January, the clerk of the court announced today.

Justice Van Devanter is the only Supreme court justice who has retired under the 1937 court reform bill, permitting retirement under full salary, with the understanding that retired justices may be assigned by the chief justice to sit in inferior federal courts. It is understood he asked for an assignment.

Pleads Guilty, Gets Three Years for Counterfeiting

Pleading guilty to counterfeiting, Albert H. Baumgartner, 35 years old, 1528 Jackson boulevard, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Charles E. Woodward in Federal court to three years in Leavenworth prison. Roy D. Keehn Jr., asistant district attorney, said Baumgartner has a prison record for counterfeiting and burglary.

Oak Park Football Player Named in Paternity Charge

Raymond Wengierski, a star player on the Oak Park high school football team last season, was held to the Criminal court yesterday on the complaint of an Oak Park mother that he is the father of a girl born Dec. 6 to her daughter. Wengierski is 18 years old. The girl is now 17. At the hearing before Justice Rudolph C. Weichbrodt, Wengierski was freed on the bond furnished by his father, a loan broker.

DICKINSON PUTS HAT IN IOWA'S SENATORIAL RING

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Lester J. Dickinson, of Algona, Ia., former United States senator, announced his candidacy today for the Republican senatorial nomination in the June primaries.

"The country needs sound government more desperately now than ever before," Mr. Dickinson said. "Experiments have proved that we still must depend on earning and saving, rather than on borrowing and spending, to restore our economic morale. I am more convinced than ever before that experience and common sense are required in public service. If nominated and elected I will direct my course along such lines."

A sharp critic of the national administration, Dickinson, if nominated, might oppose a Democrat who has dared to oppose several Roosevelt measures, Senator Guy Gillette, of Cherokee, Ia. Gillette in 1936 was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Louis Murphy [Dem., of Dubuqua, Ia.], who was killed in an automobile crash.

PWA REPORTS TOTAL OUTLAY OF $1,117,675,682

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The Public Works Administration today reported it had expended $1,117,675,682 from the date of its inception through June 30, 1937.

Expenditures by states for the 1937 fiscal year and the grand total up to June 30 included:

Illinois, $26,629,642 and $104,529,560; Indiana, $7,102,121 and $17,492,289; Iowa, $3,215,847 and $9,426,361; Michigan, $9,792,799 and $17,421,669; Minnesota, $4,105,896 and $11,385,818; Missouri, $7,679,372 and $19,235,739; Wisconsin, $5,459,889 and $9,988,619.

HIGHLAND PARK CRASH INJURES YALE STUDENT

De Forest Hulburd Jr. of Lake Bluff Is Victim.

Injuries that may prove fatal were incurred last night by De Forest Hulburd Jr., 111 Moffett road, Lake Bluff, when the car he was driving crashed into another in Highland Park. Young Hulburd, the son of De Forest Hulburd Sr., investment broker and former president of the Elgin National Watch company, was home for the holidays from Yale university, where he is a student. Yesterday was his 21st birthday.

The driver of the second car was Lieut. J. W. Gubbins, U. S. A., 49 years old. With him were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Gubbins, each 74 years old, of 5930 Ridge avenue, and Mrs. William Quinn, 527 Kedzie street, Evanston. The elder Gubbins suffered severe internal injuries but the others escaped with cuts and bruises.

Hulburd was north bound in Green Bay road and Lieut. Gubbins west bound in Broadview avenue when the accident occurred. All the victims were taken to the Highland Park hospital, where it was said Hulburd had a fractured skull. Lieut. Gubbins had just been released from the hospital at Fort Sheridan, where he was under treatment for illness.

Unidentified Man Killed.

An unidentified man, poorly dressed, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by an auto driven by Ernest Pasteris, 45 years old, of 111 North Kildare avenue, on South Park avenue between 25th and 26th streets.

Miss Laura Bold, 53 years old, 202 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, was seriously injured last night when she was struck at Lombard avenue and Washington street, Oak Park, by an automobile driven by Emil Chalupnik, 42 years old, 7140 Windsor avenue, Berwyn.

Struck by an automobile as she walked in Jackson boulevard last evening, Mrs. Emma Wellington, 50 years old, 1924 Jackson boulevard, was taken to the County hospital in a serious condition. Her husband, Charles, also is in the hospital, having been injured several days ago in a fight. Louis Cohen, 28 years old, of 2022 North Spaulding avenue, was the driver of the car that struck Mrs. Wellington.

Dies After Collision.

Mrs. Evelyn Miltmore, 30 years old, 6521 North Newgard avenue, died yesterday in the Northwestern hospital at Des Plaines from injuries incurred in a collision of two automobiles Nov. 24 at Mannheim road and Touhy avenue.

George Jokantas, 65 years old, 4138 Archer avenue, who was struck by an automobile Sunday near his home, died of his injuries yesterday in the Holy Cross hospital. The car was driven by the Rev. Carl F. Dankworth, 212 West 4th street, Hinsdale, pastor of the Hinsdale Lutheran church.

Victim of a hit and run motorist, Harry Chabner, 46 years old, 3446 12th place, died yesterday in the County hospital. Chabner was struck in Roosevelt road near South Central Park avenue on Christmas night.

Mathias Anderson, 73 years old, of 2009 Milwaukee avenue, died last night as the result of injuries received Monday night when h was struck by a truck driven by Oliver Gustafson, 4700 North Paulina street.

Woman, 72, Dies of Injuries.

Mrs. Rose Grant, 72 years old, 1700 Monticello avenue, who was struck by an automobile Dec. 3 near her home, died of her injuries yesterday in her home. Leon Reeder, 5018 Wrightwood avenue, drove the car.

Samuel Tennant, 58 years old, 3353 West 60th street, died in the Englewood hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile Nov. 14.

Mrs. E. Miltmore, 6521 Newgard avenue, who was injured in a collision Nov. 24 at Mannheim and Touhy roads, died yesterday in the Northwestern hospital, Des Plaines.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 1,101 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 843 were killed in Chicago, where 22,678 were injured in the same period.

Admits Killing Son

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

Mrs. Luella Nead, 15, child wife of the confessed slayer.

Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—A report of Dr. E. L. Tharinger, Milwaukee pathologist, today showed fine hair and traces of skin in scrapings removed from the finger nails of Henry J. Nead, 19 years old, who is held on a charge of murder in the death of his foster son, 6 weeks old.

Coroner P. E. Wright said he was satisfied the skin cells were scratched from the face of the baby. Nead was quoted by Sherif Henry Becker as having confessed he slapped the infant to death Christmas day because the ghost of his father, who has been dead six years, forced him to the act.

Despite the purported confession, Wood county authorities went ahead building a factual case against the youth. Nead's child wife, Mrs. Luella Nead, 15 years old, was detained several hours as a material witness.

Gives Motorists to Jan. 3 to Get City Tax Stickers

City Controler Robert Upham sent a written request yesterday to Police Commissioner Allman to arrest motorists who have not obtained their city vehicle tax stickers by Jan. 3. City Clerk Peter J. Brady said 85,484 car owners already have purchased their licenses.

FINDS THOUSAND IN TRAILERS BASK IN SARASOTA SUN

Foust Tells of Meeting Illinoisians There.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Trailer Camp, Sarasota, Fla., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—After living with the thousand persons in the trailer camp here for a few days, playing shuffle board with them, kabitzing their checker and card games, and fishing with them from the causeway over Sarasota bay, I've become more tolerant toward the rolling cabins that are a nuisance on busy streets.

With your permission I'll introduce some of the neighbors to the trailer which was towed here by the Tribune roadster. Let's meet some of those from Illinois.

To the rear of the Tribune automobile is E. L. Schauer and his wife of Freeport, Ill. At 50 years of age, he retired last spring. He worked for the Illinois Central railroad for twenty-seven years.

Next to the Schauers lives Eugene Wilson, 44 years old, and his wife, Mildred, of Marion, Ill. On Nov. 9, 1917, as a sergeant in the 16th infantry, he was gassed and wounded in the Argonne offensive. He said on the $100 a month he's receiving from the government he's "leading the life of Riley."

There's another war veteran across the street from the Tribune roadster also receiving $100 a month from the government. He's Bob Owen Goodpaster, 40 years old, of Mount Pulaski, Ill., whose left arm was incapacitated in an automobile wreck at Camp Grant, Ill. When he was married four years ago at Woodstock, Ill., he bought a trailer for the honeymoon. His wife said they're still on their first wedding trip.

Subsequent articles will tell more of trailer travel and of camp life.

WHO WOULD CALL A HE-CAT CUDDLES? COURT MUST DECIDE

Cuddles, a big reddish yellow Angora tomcat, will be haled into court on New Year's eve, not because he strayed from the paths of feline rectitude, but because he ran away from two women who love him. Cuddles couldn't take it.

Mrs. Ruth Pegelow of 1115 Erie street, Oak Park, an opera and concert singer, says the cat's hers. She asserts she got him two years ago just as his eyes opened. He disappeared on Dec. 17. Mrs. Harold F. Reid, 202 Forest avenue, Oak Park, says he belongs to her; that she got him as a kitten, and that he ran away six months ago.

Justice Rudolph C. Weichbrodt will decide Friday afternoon to which of the women he really belongs. Court attachés who saw the husky fellow at a hearing yesterday said they hoped they could find out who named him; that the judge's task would be as simple as Solomon's.

SUICIDE VERDICT RETURNED.

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in the death of O. Clyde Black, 63 years old, 7217 South Park avenue, who was found dead of gunshot wounds Monday in his real estate office at 753 East 75th street.

ONE HOUSEWIFE, SIX OTHERS LOSE DRIVING RIGHTS

Judge J. M. Braude in Safety court yesterday deprived seven reckless motorists, one a housewife, of their driving privileges. Three were fined, two were sentenced to jail, one was placed on probation and one chose a jail sentence rather than pay a fine. They were:

ANTHONY BALTRUNAS, 4016 Normal avenue; five days in the county jail; suspended from driving for ninety days.

MICHAEL STETZ, 5223 North Natoma avenue; five days in jail; suspended for sixty days.

NASARIO GOMEZ, 1122 South Haisted street; fined $50; suspended for three months.

DUDLEY SHELTON, colored, 3526 South Park way; fined $15; suspended for thirty days.

CHARLES MATRONA, 1638 Humboldt boulevard; chose a five day sentence rather than pay a $100 fine; suspended for thirty days.

ADELOR C. STORHAUGH, 3409 Hirsch street; probation for three months; barred from driving for sixty days.

On Nov. 26 a car driven by Victor Long of Wheaton was hit in the rear by a car driven by Storhaugh and owned by Matrona. When Storhaugh got out of the car following the accident, Matrona slid into the driver's seat and sped away.

Glenwood Woman Found Shot to Death in Home

Mrs. Anna Connor, 47 years old, was found shot to death yesterday in her home at Oak and Merrill streets, Glenwood, Bloom township. A pistol lay under her body and county highway police said she had killed herself. Her son Richard, 21 years old, had just returned to the house when he heard the shot. His father Charles, a railroad employé, arrived soon afterward and notified police. The father and son said there had been frequent quarrels in the home.

PROMISES

By CALEB

CHARLES DICKENS, in a little known booklet titled "Doctor Marigold," poked some sly fun at politicians. Although he wrote seventy years ago, his "ribbing" may be said to be timeless. "Jack," a seeker for political office, addresses the voters thus:

"Now, my free and independent voters, I am a going to give you such a chance as you never had in all your born days, and that's the chance of sending Myself to Parliament. Now I'll tell you what I am a going to do for you. Here's the interests of this magnificent town promoted above all the rest of the civilized and uncivilized earth. . . . Here's uniwersal prosperity for you, repletion of animal food, golden corn-fields, gladsome homesteads, and rounds of applause from your own hearts, all in one lot, and that's myself. Will you take me as I stand? You won't? Well, then, I'll tell you what I'll do with you. Come now! I'll throw you in anything you ask for. There! Church-rates, abolition of church-rates, more malt tax, no malt tax, uniwersal education to the highest mark, or uniwersal ignorance to the lowest, total abolition of flogging in the army, or a dozen for every private once a month all round, Wrongs of Men or Rights of Women—only say which it shall be, take 'em or leave 'em, and I'm of your opinion altogether, and the lot's your own on your own terms. . . . Take the lot, and I'll drop two thousand pound in the streets of your magnificent town for them to pick up that can. . . . Come now! You won't do better, and you may do worse. You take it? Hooray! Sold again, and got the seat!"

SOMETIMES it appears to us that politicians—despite the trials and tribulations they all must bear—have a comparatively simple life of it, to a large extent. Some of them gain and hold office largely through promises.

Business men attempt to build something which endures longer than the tenure of public office. Therefore, sound businesses are not likely to make promises they cannot keep. What they buy of advancement and of patronage must be bought in dead earnest.

$1,500,000 TRIM IN PROPOSED CITY BUDGET ORDERED

Department Heads Meet Aldermen Today.

Heads of all city departments were ordered late yesterday to appear before the city council finance committee today, where they will be told to reduce their 1938 budget requests so that $1,500,000 can be pared from the $58,090,106 tentative budget passed last week by the city council. The order was issued by Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the finance committee.

Ald. Arvey said Mayor Kelly, who is out of the city, is in accord with the proposed reduction.

The reduction is requested in the face of the fact that the tentative budget estimates revenues available at $58,109,983. This was explained by Ald. Arvey, who said that included in the anticipated revenue is an estimated surplus of $1,500,000 from 1937 funds. He said that since the surplus is only an estimate, it was thought wise to avoid appropriating against it if possible.

Hedge on Bookie Law?

In some quarters it was assumed that the reduction may be a hedge against the possibility that the parimutuel track brokers' ordinance, passed last week and expected to produce $2,000,000 annually, may prove illegal when tested in the courts and hence will not bring in the estimated revenue.

The final passage of the budget, first scheduled for next Wednesday, has been postponed until Jan. 10 to provide for the additional conferences with department heads. Ald. Arvey said the council has empowered City Controler Robert Upham to authorize relief checks on the basis of 1937 appropriations, so the postponement will not hold up Chicago relief administration funds.

Representatives of city police yesterday asked the finance committee to increase salaries of patrolmen from $2,500 to $3,000 a year and other salaries in proportion. The increase would total $3,600,000. Michael Carrozzo, head of the street laborers' union, threatened a strike if the wages of his men are not increased. Owners of trucks and teams rented by the city also asked more money.

BUDGET SYSTEM PRAISED

The Sanitary district was commended yesterday for revising its method of reporting back taxes receivable in presenting budget data. Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency, at a public hearing on the district's 1938 budget, asserted that the district so far is the only major Chicago government to furnish full details on this subject.

"Your board has laid its cards on the table," Sutherland said. "We believe you have inaugurated a wise policy. We also welcome this opportunity to call public attention also to the excellent record of the sanitary district corporate fund under the administration of the present trustees and President Ross A. Woodhull."

Budget Vote Next Week.

Trustees are expected to vote next week on adoption of the 1938 budget. The corporate appropriations for next year are placed at $5,804,048, compared with $5,394,203 for 1937. Most of the increase, according to Mr. Woodhull, is accounted for by salary restorations and union wage scale increases.

The Chicago park board yesterday adopted a 1938 appropriations bill aggregating $23,579,416, including corporate appropriations of $10,999,141.

MANY RELIEFERS, BUT FEW FIT FOR HEAVY WPA JOBS

Orders to use all possible speed in making reliefers, both new and old cases, eligible for appointment to WPA jobs were sent to the district relief offices yesterday by Commissioner Leo M. Lyons of the Chicago relief administration.

Paul C. Dougherty, placement officer for WPA district 3 [Chicago], said that between 3,000 and 5,000 men capable of doing heavy labor are needed to put the new projects secured recently by Mayor Kelly into full operation.

The new projects include work on the north half of the airport site, paving, sewers, and rebuilding of curbing.

Edward Minarczyk, 12 years old, who was wounded by the accidental discharge of an automatic pistol on Sunday, died yesterday in St. Mary's hospital. The boy, who lived at 1313 Huron street, was shot by William Pisano, 19 years old, 1301 Erie street. Pisano is being held by Racine avenue police.

AIR LINES FEES BOOSTED BY CITY IN SURPRISE LAW

Acts to Force Accord on Rent Raise.

An ordinance passed by the city council as a threat to bring one recalcitrant airline to terms over a general rental increase at Chicago airport becomes effective today. This new measure fixes a schedule of license fees for every commercial plane regularly using the air terminal and in effect increases the city income from the air lines by 175 per cent.

Mayor Kelly, however, said last night in a telephone conversation from Miami, Fla., where he is spending the holidays, that the new law will be repealed by the council on Jan. 10 if all the airlines agree by that time to an increase in rentals. The rental increase would boost the city's annual income from this source from about $20,000 to $40,000.

Ordinance Passed Dec. 22.

The mayor explained that the license fee ordinance was passed on Dec. 22, merely in order to bring the one air line which had objected to the rental increase to terms. He refused to reveal the name of the line in question but said that all the others had agreed the proposed 100 per cent increase in annual rentals for hangar plots at the field is fair to every operator.

The new fee ordinance would raise the city's income from the operators to about $55,000 a year. It fixes an annual fee of $50 for each airplane of 15,000 pounds gross weight used in a regular schedule, $100 for each plane weighing between 15,000 and 25,000 pounds; $150 for planes between 25,000 and 50,000 pounds and $200 for those over 200,000 pounds. Sightseeing or charter operators would pay an annual fee of $100 a seat for aircraft used in such commercial flying.

Air Line Officials Surprised.

Discovery that this ordinance had been passed caused surprise last night among air line officials who had vigorously opposed the license fee proposals at council committee meetings, where it was discussed. Three presidents of large air lines here had been meeting with an airport subcommittee and had agreed to the 100 per cent raise in their rents, but had insisted they would be unable to meet the 175 per cent increase entailed under the license fee ordinance.

Some of their concern was allayed when the mayor's explanation became known. All the larger operators, however, said they would consult with their attorneys over the advisability of attacking the new ordinance in the courts in the event it is not repealed.

The ordinance was passed without attracting attention because it was included in a long list of ward matters which are routine business at every council meeting. The clerk read only the opening words of the first section of the ordinance and it was passed without a separate roll call or any comment.

MAN IS NOT SOLE RULER OF WORLD, SCIENTISTS TOLD

Control of Plants, Insects Marks Progress.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—This world was not made for man any more than it was made for insects and plants, and man's control over these things, through science, is one great measure of his progress.

The science and society symposium of the American Association for Advancement of Science turned its attention to agriculture and related problems today with results not entirely reassuring. Here, as in other fields such as medicine, not enough people know how to utilize knowledge already available. New research is demanded, but the social lag of application is terrific.

White grubs and grasshoppers have cut loose great sheets of sod which are carried away by wind and water, setting the stage for the dust bowl tragedy, according to Dr. F. C. Bishopp of the United States bureau of entomology and plant quarantine.

Pests Strip Wide Areas.

Hundreds of thousands of acres of land in Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, and the Dakotas have been stripped of vegetation by these pests during the last few years, he said. Large areas of forest trees are killed by bark beetles. Impounded waters give rise to mosquitoes and malaria. The deer in Florida serve as hosts for the cattle fever tick. Insects, said Dr. Bishopp, must be reckoned with in every field of human activity.

The humble cockroach has gone on his efficient way for 400 million years. His or her purpose and function in nature is not clear yet. The female goes on laying capsules of 16 eggs every few weeks, each female producing about 1,000 eggs during lifetime. George E. Gould and Howard O. Deay of Purdue university reported on the biology of this bathroom pest. The black widow spider, for some strange reason, possibly radiation, produces 3,500 eggs in Montana and only 1,200 in Oregon.

The greatest weapon against plant diseases is proving to be the breeding of resistant organisms, Dr. Gove Hambidge of the United States department of agriculture said.

Possibilities Barely Touched.

The achievements of plant breeders in genetics have hardly touched the possibilities.

The new soy bean research laboratory and the forest products laboratory are examples of the cooperative search for new and better uses for farm products. A low cost house of wood, adapted to large scale production and rapid field assembly is being developed.

Another symposium of today dealt with the application of the new study of surface chemistry to biology. Surface chemistry has been developed as a new attack on the mechanism of nature by Dr. Irving Langmuir, research director of the General Electric company. A Nobel prize winner of 1932, Dr. Langmuir today discussed the behavior of various oil films spread on water.

His original discovery was that oil spreads over the surface in layers one molecule thick. An oil film is made of billions of long waving molecules, each a structure of linked atoms attached to the water by a head. The liquid surface of water itself is a sort of skin.

Principle Is Explained.

The principle involved is that of independent surface action of this layer. It has affinities which bind or loose the physical world. The application so far has been in lamps, the rate of consumption of electric current having been lowered at a great saving to consumers. It is also the principle in gas masks, where certain gases adhere to charcoal surface.

It has resulted in a tougher lubricant for air planes, and now the search has entered the biological field. It may touch the mystery of protein molecules which are essential to life behavior. It may serve as a cancer clew, touching the behavior of cell surfaces to certain toxins and anti-toxins. Glandular and other substances enter the blood through cell surfaces, and now it appears that it is these surfaces that determine what they will receive and what not. Dr. Langmuir explained that parts of these layers have specific affinities.

Many at Syphilis Session.

A session on syphilis attracted a large group of scientists today. Dr. William Allen Pusey of Chicago read a paper in support of his theory that the disease had its origin in America. There is reason to believe, he said, that it was carried back to the old world after the discoverey of America.

Dr. F. E. Senear of the University of Illinois college of medicine said that any program designed to lessen the incidence of the disease must depend upon laboratory and other measures. The Wassermann or other similar tests are not positive in all cases of this infection, he said, and it is essential that physicians in such cases have a considerable clinical experience.

Effective with issue of January 2, 1938

There are 995 cities of 10,000 population and over in the United States.

These 995 cities represent only 1% of the population centers of the country —yet 14,670,299 families are concentrated there—49% of all the families in the United States! And they account for 70% of all retail sales.

The American Weekly goes into the homes of—

20 to 30% of all the families in 164 of these cities
30 to 40% of all the families in 133 of these cities
40 to 50% of all the families in 155 of these cities
More than 50% of all the families in 247 of these cities

In 699 of the 995 cities you find 10,662,804 families—and 45.71% of the families in this group receive The American Weekly.

In addition 2,300,000 other families throughout the country regularly receive The American Weekly.

These 7,000,000 families—readers of The American Weekly—spend approximately $8,750,000,000 a year in retail purchases.

IT DOESN'T MAKE SENSE.

The National Recovery act was the prize child in its time of the peaceable revolution. As its title implies, it was the way out. Its little brother was the Petroleum act, which was bone of its bone and sinew of its sinew. Under the little brother Secretary Ickes forced the oil producers into price agreements and quotas of production. It was the purpose of the law and of Mr. Ickes to prevent competition, to peg prices and maintain them, and ostensibly to prevent the disorganization of the industry.

Now the federal government is prosecuting the oil companies, accusing their managements of having continued to do what they were required to do, under penalty, when the government thought that free production, competition, and price cutting would be ruinous to the oil reserves and the country's welfare. There will be a little difficulty in putting two and two together here and finding anything that makes sense, but that is only one item.

One of the Standard Oil companies is defending itself, with other companies, in the federal court in the Madison, Wis., district. Over in China an American gunboat protecting three Standard Oil ships was sunk and the peace of the country was in question while the government was obtaining reparations as well as apologies and guaranties.

The National Recovery act itself told the producers of the country to draw codes of what was called fair competition. Each industry, whether it made mousetraps or steel, had to have a code, and if it didn't submit a satisfactory one for approval the government would hand it one. These codes were to prohibit price cutting and competition and give code authorities, consisting of private individuals, administrative, legislative, and quasi-judicial powers.

Now the government, with Assistant Attorney General Jackson as a recent voice, says the recession can be traced to the monopolistic practices of big industries which have boosted prices beyond any justification to be found in increased pay or the increased cost of materials. High prices have been the pet desideratum of the administration and nearly all legislation and nearly all the administrative acts have been intended to get them.

The program has been for cheap money, reduced crops, shorter hours, and high costs of all kinds, a result to be achieved by both penalties and subsidies, reducing the amount of what people eat, wear, and use. Suddenly the administration says that prices are too high, instructs the department of justice to bring suits, and lays the responsibility for present difficulties and high prices upon private enterprises.

The government, through the department of justice, is after the Aluminum company, one of the enterprises of the late Andrew Mellon, who was kept in hot water by the internal revenue department until, after his death, the courts decided that his income tax schedules were proper returns. One branch of the government seeks the dissolution of the Aluminum company, asserting that it has a monopoly with resultant extortionate prices. Another branch of the federal government subsidizes the company. It is a customer of the TVA, attracted into the domain of that authority by electric power rates far below cost of production. A number of great corporations are receiving similar subsidies, but every one else is being taxed white. It doesn't make sense.

The administration asks congress to create seven more of these electric power authorities, to cover the entire country, giving them appropriations for a fraud of flood control and navigation and thus setting them up to take business away from private enterprise. At the same time the administration recognizes that an expanding private utility industry would be of great aid just now in creating employment by its demands for materials. Therefore utility men have been called to the White House to be rebuked for timidity and encouraged to go out and spend two or three billion dollars, presumably for business the government can take away from them. Apparently no one in the administration thinks this is funny.

The administration says prices are too high. It hasn't had any other idea than to make them high. It now asks who did that. The federal trade commission has been instructed to find out but not to look around in Washington, where the answer could be had. The price of coal, for instance, has gone up. The Guffey coal act was intended to make it go up. The coal operators are treated now as the oil operators were earlier. Later they may be prosecuted. Anyway, prices are higher and you know why.

Punitive taxes intended to prevent the use of profits in business were imposed. A corporation which wanted to save some of its earnings for expansion or contingencies was soaked. Now the administration says that business and industry by not expanding and taking risks are deliberately inculcating fear throughout the country.

The National Labor act was supposed to make industry safe for the worker. Two million jobs have been lost since September.

WHY ENGLISH IS HATEFUL AND LOVELY.

Foreigners hate English, says Prof. Ovid R. Sellers of the Presbyterian Theological seminary, because it is characteristic of the English word to have divergent and even opposite meanings. Thus, to stone a man means to throw stones at him, but to stone a cherry is to take the stone away.

That may be the reason foreigners give for hating English, but if they would examine their native vocabularies they would find a comparable confusion. Our offense in this particular may be a little graver but it is more than balanced by the simplicity of our grammar. In learning English you don't have to fret about the sex of inanimate objects and abstractions. Our pronouns have three case forms but our nouns have only two and any child can learn all he needs to know about their inflection in five minutes. Our irregular verbs are no worse than those found in other languages and our regular verbs are duck soup.

There is, however, a very good reason for hating English. It is our bewildering use of verbs and prepositions in combination. This is our Anglo-Saxon heritage. Let the remarks of Mrs. Jones about her son Willie and the impending visit of Cousin John serve as an illustration. Says Mrs. Jones:

> We can put up Cousin John but if we put him up in Willie's room Cousin John probably will be put out in both senses. He can't put up with Willie even if Willie is put up to being a good boy. Willie has been put back in school so often that I think he ought to be put back to work. If he'd put in his time putting up packages at the grocery as he did last summer the grocer would put out a more attractive line of goods, put away more profits, and might put by something for a rainy day. Anyway, we can't afford to put Willie through college; we can't put it through. Then oughtn't he be put under a stern disciplinarian who would teach him to put over big things? I put forward that thought and I put it to you as a question, asking only that you put everything else behind. I suggest you put down your answer in writing.

This arresting narration can be translated into another language, also called English, somewhat as follows:

> We can accommodate Cousin John but if we place him upstairs in Willie's room Cousin John will be annoyed and perhaps ejected. He can't tolerate Willie even if Willie is induced to be a good boy. Willie has been demoted so often in school that I think he should return to work. If he'd occupy himself preparing packages at the grocery, as he did last summer, the grocer would be provided with a more attractive line of goods, would accumulate larger profits, and might reserve something for a rainy day. Anyway, we can't afford a college education for Willie; we can't arrange it. Then ought he not be entrusted to a stern disciplinarian who would teach him to achieve great things? I offer that thought in the form of a question, asking only that you give it precedence. I suggest you commit your answer to writing.

That is the version which we owe largely to the Norman conquest. The language in which it is written is the easiest of all languages to learn, particularly if the learner knows Latin or any of the Romance tongues. Even Esperanto can't be much simpler. Unfortunately for the student, the two Englishes are commonly twined about each other in the same sentence. He can't be said to know English until he can feel which form of speech his thought calls for. He has our sympathy. We feel for him.

AIRPORT TAXES.

In their efforts to make a revenue producer out of the enlarged airport the aldermen have the wrong idea. They should not tax air lines out of the city. Chicago is the natural hub of American aviation and must retain its advantage. The argument that the railways and bus lines maintain their own depots and pay taxes on them is not valid. The former were given all sorts of tax exemptions, land grants, and civic privileges during their formative years, and the latter have used public highways with street corner stops until very recent years.

There is another compelling reason. The city of New York is rapidly developing plans for the most elaborate air facilities in the world. Not only will it have a landing field much nearer to the city's center than Chicago's municipal airport, but there will be a mooring mast for dirigibles and docks for flying boats. Compared with such a layout, Chicago is offering nothing more than a piece of land that would otherwise be vacant. As shown by the Herman incident, the adjacent properties are listed for taxing purposes as cheap, nonindustrial lands and assessed at one thousand dollars an acre.

Aviation is still in its infancy. Chicago must not stunt the growth of her promising children.

Editorial of the Day

[Bucyrus (O.) Telegraph-Forum.]

Public demonstrations which have taken place since the Japanese air attack upon the U. S. S. Panay and three American merchant ships in the Yangtze river will accomplish nothing more than unnecessary antagonism at a time when level-headedness is in demand. One of these demonstrations occurred here in Ohio when a group of East Liverpool merchants and citizens paraded up and down the business streets of that city bearing banners designed to arouse public enmity toward the Japanese people. "We have no yen for Jap workmen," read one of the banners.

After the parade 109 merchants of the city voluntarily went to their stores and removed all Japanese-made merchandise from their shelves and took the goods to a central location for a big bonfire. In New York on the same day a group of women pickets paraded back and forth in front of the Japanese consulate carrying banners which read: "Quarantine the Aggressor. Boycott Japanese Goods," and "We protest Against the Bombing and Sinking of the Panay by the Japanese Military-Fascist Government."

Patriotism is one thing, but unnecessary stirring up of international hatred is another. The Japanese government has apologized to the United States for the attack. Japan knows now that it has strained relationships between the two countries and that America means to stand by its rights in foreign fields. There can be nothing added to the situation by public demonstrations. Coming as it did but two weeks after an American flag was thrown into the river by Japanese soldiers, the sinking of the Panay has left its mark. The American people as a whole do not want another war, but the American people, history has taught, are susceptible to public demonstrations. The longer they can be held down the longer people will use their natural judgment.

An investigation, and mind you it will come, will no doubt disclose some time that it's a practical joker who sells side street restaurants the imposing looking menus they use as backs for the neat little typed bill-of-fare that really tells what they have to eat. The big and perfectly meaningless menu invariably lists a dozen hors d'œuvres: canapé Italienne, anchovies, and caviar. And they'd only scowl if you asked for celery. Steaks, chops, and even ham and eggs are listed at outrageous prices that the bill-of-fare proves are liars.

BECAUSE THE LITTER was getting too conspicuous, the man whose wife throws everything into the back seat dumped the old newspapers, boxes, and string into a rubbish box across from the Stevens hotel the other morning. Just before he started home that evening his wife telephoned to say she'd left a box of ermine tails she'd bought for a new dress in the car and to be sure nothing happened to them. Knowing the rubbish box would have been emptied long ago, he went back anyway, because there was nothing else to do. Every scrap of paper had been removed. The box was neat and empty—except for the parcel of ermine tails, still unopened.

RESPONSE OF THE HEART TO EFFORT.

ONE of my closest friends—a chap who has rather large business responsibilities—returned from his vacation this autumn "all fagged out"—as he expressed it. He had spent about six weeks in the Rockies. His chief complaint was shortness of breath. The color of his skin was good and the sounds of the heart were clear. But the rate was fast, increasing markedly on activity.

What had happened? He had overstrained his heart muscle—had asked it to do too much without sufficient preparation. When at home he took very little exercise, but while on his holiday he had been on the go constantly. Two or three weeks of rest brought about complete restoration of function. Perhaps some would have said that he had an irritable heart. Well, he did, but the cause is the same—too abrupt and too heavy an overload.

I have in mind another experience. A man of 43 was bothered by pain in the chest, only after exercise. As long as he was reasonably quiet he was comfortable. On the other hand, should he walk against a stiff wind, be exposed to cold, or consume a heavy meal, the distress became acute. He located the sensation beneath the breastbone and described it as of the squeezing, viselike type. Obviously, this was a manifestation of angina but of the sort which comes on only with exertion. Under a regimen of lessened activity, with smaller meals—four times daily—and with some reduction in weight, the patient has had no symptoms for many months.

But there is an indication of organic muscle degeneration which we must not ignore. It is usually associated with high blood pressure. In fact, more than half of those who exhibit a pressure level appreciably higher than normal, and in whom the condition continues for several years, ultimately will develop not only heart muscle failure, but some embarrassment of the kidneys as well. The reason is as clear as putting two and two together. No structure can maintain its integrity under a constant, excessive pound that goes on day and night without any let up. These patients may fail to respond to diet—as far as blood pressure is concerned—but they can save their hearts for many years to come by a moderation of strain.

All high blood pressure sufferers should realize that they can ward off danger to the circulation [including the heart] if they will adopt a slower pace. This is but a common sense safeguard as it relieves the pumping organ of extra load. Every mechanic knows that a machine can be driven only so hard, that is, if he would preserve its life and output. In other words, we can obtain greater production by driving it—for example—at 1,500 revolutions per minute rather than 2,500.

I long have urged many of my friends who have—or think they have—a slight heart difficulty—as well as those who have a pressure higher than the law allows—to relax during the middle of the day. Lying down for a half hour after the noon meal will do the trick. Not only will the individual possess a clearer mind for the tasks of the afternoon but he will face them without the effort which he was called upon to make prior to establishment of the rest period.

I recall well a patient who had a severe coronary accident about eight years ago. I am satisfied that the rest hour not only preserved his life, but enhanced his efficiency tremendously. He is carrying on his duties fully and feels better than he has for years. A recent examination gave him a clean bill of health. He was facing a serious breakdown at the time his coronary arteries sounded the alarm.

MAY BE SLEEPY.

S. writes: In Parkinson's disease, are the eye muscles affected to the extent that it is an effort to hold them open?

REPLY.

Rigidity of the eye muscles is a symptom of advanced Parkinson's disease. Your question may mean that you are sleepy.

DISPARITY OF AGES.

C. L. writes: Generally speaking, is it advisable for a girl of 18 to marry a man of 42?

REPLY.

Too great a disparity in age of husband and wife is to be condemned on all grounds—economic, physical, psychological, and social.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

WARANTY DEED.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We bought a house in March and met our down payment satisfactorily and have carried out and lived up to the terms of the contract negotiated between the former owners, mortgage holder [HOLC], real estate dealer, and ourselves. We received a waranty deed from the owner, signed, attested, and registered same with county.

1. Is it necessary that we have a quitclaim deed and from whom would we receive same?

2. Please explain waranty deed and quitclaim deed.

3. Also, now we find that former owner did not figure in his selling price for house real estate dealer's commission of 5 per cent, or $200 in our case, which real estate dealer received, and now owner claims he is entitled to $200 more for himself. Can this in any way be brought before us to be paid when we really had nothing to do with it, but carried out terms of our agreement satisfactorily? We think it is entirely the former owner's fault for overlooking this point when he authorized sale of house by dealer H. S. N.

1. No.

2. In substance the waranty deed includes a guarantee by the grantor that the title is good, while the quitclaim deed includes no such guarantee.

3. If the seller employed the broker, we see no reason why you should pay the broker's commission, but we cannot give advice of much value without having the wording of the contract of sale before us.

INTERESTING IF TRUE.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Will you allow me to add my comments on the proposed bookie bill? I believe all this fuss spells the doom of legalized betting on the horses in the state.

There is no way that bookmaking can be legalized in Chicago. In spite of the mayor's and his own corporation counsel's opinion, the law is as full of holes as a sponge. It will be signed and become a law all right, but no sensible man is going to lay out any of the so-called legal license fees on top of fixing up a bookmaking establishment unless a legal opinion is passed by a higher court. And the opinion will be against the bookie law, and you can bet on that.

Supposing that the law remains in force for a year, all moneys bet must be wired to the track as comeback money. The result will be one of two things—either the track will refuse to accept this—or if they do, the payoff will be so small in the mutuels that racing will die of its own accord—and that's the underlying idea behind the whole scheme of things.

The tracks in Illinois and the racing commission have failed to protect the public and therefore deserve to pass out. The public has been gypped by phony mutuel payoffs, crooked races, and crooked trainers. Some stables race month after month without ever getting a winner and are allowed to run horses out of condition—lame and otherwise misfits in races, burning up the betters' money without any recourse by the officials in charge.

There have been instances where the owner of a horse was forced to run a horse "cold," knowing that the horse had no chance to win. The reputation of the horse and trainer lured the public to bet on this horse and naturally he ran out of the money, losing thousands of dollars for the public.

Therefore racing in Illinois deserves no sympathy. Long may she rest in peace. HYMAN JACKLER.

MAYBE NEXT CHRISTMAS.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Please, Santa Claus, I know it's late to be asking for something, but I am just all worn out—please give us back our nice licking sized postage stamps. Please, just for those nice little red, and green, and purple squares. I just can't lick another circus tent stamp. Please, Santa, fix it so I don't have to be a philatelist in order to get out a few letters a day. Please, Santa Claus. ME,

REDS.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—I see in your editorial of Dec. 24 about William Allen White that Msgr. Ryan of the Catholic university and representing the National Catholic Welfare conference is a "Red"! If so, so am I, and more power to him. CISCA.

HAPPY NEW YEAR FOR THE PROOF ROOM.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Survey the past and make resolutions for the future. Looking back, I am grateful to Al Smith for saying "raddio" because that keeps me from typing it "raido." Now if some one would tell me how to write United States and not jumble it into Untied States! Boss does not like jumbled or diversified spelling, be it mine or THE TRIBUNE'S. Dear TRIBUNE, won't you make a New Year's resolution to cut out that stuff? But you are awfully funny at times. It was some other paper that deplored wreckless driving, but you speak of women ringing their hands and I look for "Wring out the old, wring in the new" any day now. When you say heavy yolk you probably mean strong yolk, but what do you mean by the tan of the bridal path? TRIBUNE, dear TRIBUNE, won't you have pity on

A DISTRACTED STENOG.?

SO-CALLED.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Your so-called "special" news dispatch of today reporting ruling of the national labor relations board against the Ford company hit a new low in journalism even for THE TRIBUNE. Can you possibly justify referring to an agency of the federal government as "so-called"? May we expect next in your "special" Washington dispatches references to our "so-called" President and "so-called" congress?

The article referred to was in itself fair and unbiased reporting, but "so-called national labor relations board" was too much to swallow without protest. EDWARD KIRSCHNER.

THE THREAT.

New York, Dec. 22.—How can the American business man expect any sincere cooperation from Mr. Roosevelt in the face of his own words in his speech of Oct. 31, 1936, in which he said:

"I should like to have it said of my first administration that in it the forces of selfishness and of lust for power met their match. I should like to have it said of my second administration that in it these forces met their master."

He intends to be your master. He planned in that way, and don't let any one tell you otherwise. L. A. MACK.

RELIEF FROM OVERCROWDING.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—One reads so much about the overcrowded condition of Cook County hospital that one cannot help wondering why interns and residents are not housed outside the hospital and their rooms used for patients.

Directly across the street from County hospital on Wood street stands a large empty building once used by the Durand hospital. I realize that this is a privately owned building, but why could it not be rented and used, if not for interns, then for an overflow from County?

ALICE O. JONES.

HOW WARS ARE MADE.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Your recent editorial on the causes of wars gives rise to the thought that imaginary incidents are quite as deadly as actual ones.

The beating poor old Uncle Tom received from Simon Legree played a large part in bringing about the civil war. Also fictitious stories of German soldiers cutting off the hands of Belgian children, presented as facts by American newspapers, helped work the public into a fighting fury in 1914-'18.

NONSENSE story: A drunk was staggering along the street with drops of blood rolling down his cheek from a cut on top his head when he encountered an acquaintance.

"For goodness' sake, what happened to you?" inquired the acquaintance.

The drunk concentrated with difficulty, then answered, "I bit myself."

"But how could you bite yourself on top your head?" persisted the other.

Clapperless, the bells that rang;
Still, the carolers that sang;

THE impending arrival of Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia orchestra, to play at the Civic Opera house on Jan. 5, brings to mind a story that has to do with a former appearance of the orchestra in Chicago. Mr. Ormandy has a musical memory that is said to be second only to Toscanini's. He once stopped a rehersal of Beethoven's Seventh symphony to reproach a flutist.

"You've played a C-natural instead of C-sharp, just the way you did four years ago in Chicago," he said.

"It was 'The Firebird' I was playing, wasn't it?" replied the flutist.

"Of course not," answered Ormandy patiently. "You made that mistake in 'The Firebird,' too, but that was only three years ago, and not in Chicago, but Toledo. You first played that C-natural for C-sharp four years ago."

SOUTHERN nostalgia: Dr. Hugh Scott, director of Hines Memorial hospital, encountering a friend, said "Merry Christmas." Then he added mournfully, "I don't feel merry, though; I feel homesick. I always get homesick this time of year—for persimmons and for the sight of mistletoe growing on trees and, more than anything else, for a fine night in which to go 'possum hunting."

MISANTHROPIC reflection [in the morning mail]: "There is a lovely large cross at the south end of La Salle street, illuminated at night to signify the spirit of the season. Ellen P. Bull First Bud to Tell Betrothal

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE first of this year's debutantes to have her engagement announced formally is Miss Ellen Prindiville Bull. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sutton Bull, this morning are announcing that she will be married to Bayne O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Vincent O'Brien. No date is set for the marriage, however, because of the extreme youth of Miss Bull and her fiancé.

Miss Bull, who attends Bradford Junior college in Massachusetts, made her debut at a tea-dance at the Indian Hill club before returning to college in the autumn. She is the eldest of three daughters of the former Sara Rozet Smith and Dick Bull, who live in Winnetka, and her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Charles H. Hamill of Chicago.

The O'Briens live in Winnetka, too, and have for many years, but Miss Bull and Bayne O'Brien just met last fall. She went to the North Shore Country Day school before going to college, where she will be graduated in June. Mr. O'Brien, the elder of the two sons of the former Louise Waller and Pat O'Brien, went to the University of Chicago but did not finish there, preferring to go into the newspaper business.

His brother is Donel O'Brien and they have one sister, Jean, who with her husband, Frederick P. Hamilton Jr., has come from their home in Omaha to spend the holidays with her family and to attend the Rich-Poole wedding on New Year's day. Mr. Hamilton will be best man for Joseph E. Rich when he is married to Miss Nancy Poole.

There are so many extra things going on in the city during the holidays that it is no problem to entertain young people in spite of a lack of snow for winter sports. There is ice skating, of course, off and on, but outdoor ice is not very good in such weather as Chicago is enjoying now, and consequently those who count skating a pet diversion are finding the best ice at the Arena.

The Monte Carlo Ballet Russe at the Auditorium theater and Sonja Henie and her Hollywood Ice Revue at the Stadium are both entertainments that delight young as well as older persons and there are numerous parties of school girls and boys at every performance of both attractions.

The play, "When Chicago Was Young," at the Studebaker, also is of great interest to the younger generation and many theater parties are being arranged for its performances.

Every one who met the diminutive Miss Henie Monday at the tea given for her by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wirtz in their Lake Shore drive home was enchanted by her. Contrary to what is usual, she is much younger looking and just as pretty in real life as in reel life.

Two Parties Will Attend Ballet Today.

This afternoon at the ballet Mrs. John Andrews King is giving a party for her subdeb daughter, Blissy. Among the guests will be Helen Niblack, Isabel Curtis, Mary Mabbatt, Olive Robbins, Ann Patterson, Catherine Patterson, and Anne Porter.

Another party at the ballet this afternoon will be one Mrs. Kenneth S. Templeton and her daughter, Mrs. Sidney G. Johnson, are giving for debutante Barbara Austin.

Latin School Seniors Hold Dance Tonight.

On tonight's calendar for the subdeb set in town is a dance the seniors of the Boys' Latin school will give at the Saddle and Cycle club. Dr. and Mrs. Edward W. White will give a dinner at the Ambassador East preceding the dance for thirty friends of their daughter, Barbara, who is a student at Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Conn.

William Denniston, son of the Brackett B. Dennistons, and Reynolds Blossom, son of the Francis R. Blossoms, are co-chairmen of the dance, which will start at 9:30 o'clock.

Miss Frances Orcutt Bows

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Frances Orcutt made her debut last Sunday at a tea at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Dwight C. Orcutt, in Glencoe. Miss Orcutt is attending Northwestern university this winter.

College Troupe to Attend Debut of Jane Weary

Although it may be considered fashionable by some to arrive late for parties, there will be no question about the time to arrive at Miss Jane Delos Weary's debut tea-dance this afternoon at the Woman's Athletic club. The seventy young men who belong to the University of Pennsylvania's Masque and Wig club will be there shortly after 4 o'clock and in need of dancing partners.

These guests will have to leave the party before the hour set on the invitations, 7 o'clock, in order to change into their costumes for "Fifty-Fifty," a musical revue they are presenting tonight at the Civic Opera house. Many of the debutantes will attend the show.

Miss Weary will receive with her mother, Mrs. Edwin Frank Weary, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Kovas.

The Masque and Wiggers will have their headquarters in their special train. Those who awaken in time tor luncheon will attend a party John Dern is giving at the Union League club for the boys and Dr. George McLelland, vice provost of the university, who is traveling with them, and the Chicago committee for the show.

Mrs. Horace E. Newcomet and her daughters, Mrs. J. Beach Clow and Miss Marian Newcomet, will hold open house at the Newcomet apartment this afternoon preceding the tea-dance. After the show the cast will attend a supper-dance the Chicago Alumni association is giving at the Bal Tabarin. Mr. Newcomet is president of the association.

Mr. and Mrs. Dern will give a dinner at the Woman's Athletic club preceding the show, and her parents, the Bruce MacLeishes, will give a dinner at home for debutante Helen Shoemaker.

The John Walter Millers are entertaining at the show and the Bal Tabarin for debutante Sally Jane Crowder. Mrs. Freeman Hinckley is giving a dinner before the show for her sub-debutante daughter, Barbara McClurg.

The Ernest S. Ballards have taken two boxes for the Masque and Wig performance tonight, one for their friends and one for the young friends of their daughters, Miss Susan and Miss Elizabeth Ballard. Ellis Ames Ballard, Mr. Ballard's father, who came from Philadelphia for Christmas, is staying over for "Fifty-Fifty." He is an alumnus and a trustee of the university.

Mrs. Charles Spencer Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henry Zeiss, and Miss Josephine Gillette Zeiss will receive from 4 until 7 o'clock this afternoon at the Fortnightly at what will be remembered as one of the most delightful debuts of the winter and one of the few real old fashioned receptions that have been given this year.

Miss Zeiss, who is tall and pretty, traveled around the world in 1935 with her devoted grandmother, Mrs. Williamson.

Mrs. Williamson came from California especially to give the party with Mr. and Mrs. Zeiss and is staying with her niece, Mrs. Thomas E. Beasley, in Winnetka. Mrs. Williamson's other daughter, Mrs. Spencer Hammond, came with her from California for the party, at which there will be dancing.

There are to be two tea tables set up this afternoon, one in the dining room and one in the ballroom, at which the two dozen friends Miss Zeiss has asked to assist will take turns pouring. Mrs. Joseph E. Otis canceled the tea she was to give this afternoon for her granddaughter, Miss Nancy Otis.

Debutante age friends of Miss Kay Goodman, young married friends of Miss Goodman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr., and contemporaries of the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, will mingle tonight at a dinner-dance Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins are giving for debutante Miss Goodman. The party will be held in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodman are planning to take a trip to the Ojai valley in California toward the end of January, and Miss Goodman will join them there a bit later in the season.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Hollywood Mirror.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 28.—At Paramount, the boys and girls talking excitedly of the passing of Marlene Dietrich from the lot. Terrific nose dive of her last picture, "Angel," brought the issue to a head, and Paramount stockholders, who already have paid her about $1,500,000 in salaries, will now have the privilege of paying her an additional quarter of a million dollars for not making "French Without Tears." That is a new high for stockholders' tears or exhibitors' tears.

Marlene Dietrich farewell sans tears.

Carole Lombard probably will make that picture instead as the result of her current box office popularity. When the history of this amazing town is written chroniclers might reserve a prominent niche for Marlene Dietrich in the division of million dollar blunders. She parlayed the view of her legs in "Blue Angel" into $1,500,000, and even Mistinguette's famous stems never kicked that much money into a bank vault.

It is impossible for this reporter to shed any tears at the passing of Dietrich. On screen or off screen I can't call to mind any professional performer who brought so little to the industry in return for so much.

Like most foreign glamor girls who arrive here, Dietrich considered us a nation of sapadillos and treated us that way. But the box office finally catches up to all of them, and now it has caught up to her. Well, these spoiled darlings of celluloid learn too late, if indeed they ever learn at all.

Charlie Chaplin's modesty is charming and instructive. The other night, at Groucho Marx's home, Groucho asked Chaplin if some night he'd run one of his old films.

Charlie's face lighted up. "Would you really like to see one?" he asked.

So he arranged for a screening of "The Gold Rush," and when the party arrived at the studio projection room Charlie was as jittery as though it was a big opening.

The picture was as surefire as it had been years ago, and Chaplin was enormously pleased. "Why didn't you bring your youngsters to see it?" asked Groucho. Chaplin hemmed and hawed, finally blurted, "I was afraid they might not think it was funny and that would have broken my heart." The greatest comic in the world, fearful that his kids might not think him funny!

At Universal Ray-Milland and Dorothy Lamour are in a glass tank, filming an underwater kiss for "Her Jungle Love." Director Archainbaud tries again and again, but can't get it. Each time they kiss bubbles float to the top.

Mae West, on Sunset, delighted that the Legion of Decency wants only three lines yanked from her picture. She feels very badly about the radio broadcast and insists that NBC, which okayed the script, is passing the blame to her. She wanted to broadcast a scene from her picture, but NBC rejected the idea. The picture was passed by the New York board of censors.

On "The Girl of the Golden West" set Jeanette MacDonald wins $1 from Nelson Eddy between takes. "I betcha you can't name the 48 states in 15 minutes," challenges the Philadelphia girl. Eddy brashly accepts the wager. He names 46 states, but can't think of two. . . . Jeanette collects the dollar and they return to the log cabin to resume the love scene which Director Bob Leonard is filming. . . . This naming of the 48 states is one of the oldest games, but try it out at your next party and you'll find it to be a lot of fun.

On "The Test Pilot" set Gable, as the aviator, has returned after a week's absence to tell Airport Executive Lionel Barrymore that he cracked up his plane. "I want a two weeks' leave of absence to marry a girl," says Gable, "but you've got to lend me $200." Barrymore gives him the $200.

Gable, between shots, goes to the phone to call Carole Lombard. He gave her a little motor scooter for a Christmas present and she fell and scraped her knees.

In the Beverly Hills postoffice, Henry Hull registering a letter. . . . In the Brown Derby, Chris Dunphy eating his farewell lunch before motoring back to New York. . . . Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and Virginia Walker arrive with Pat Di Cicco and the Frank Rosses [Jean Arthur] . . . Vic Orsatti telling Walker Kane and two cuties that he's leaving for Miami on Jan. 7. . . . Frances Dee, Joel McCrea, and Frank Lloyd, excited over the "Wells-Fargo" handicap slated for Santa Anita on Jan. 4. . . . On the 5th, McCrea and Gary Cooper are leaving on a hunting trip.

On Sunset boulevard, Eddie Cantor emerging from his son-in-law's antique shop. . . . Another daughter, Edna, marries Jimmy McHugh's lad shortly. The engagement will be announced New Year's eve. . . . Incidentally, "You're a Sweetheart," with McHugh music, is a box office smash, with Alice Faye scoring.

At Paramount, the "College Swing" set offers proof that there's more ways than one of skinning a cat. . . . When Jackie Coogan married Betty Grable he insisted she abandon her screen career. . . . Betty was heartbroken, so she went to Paramount officials. Next day Coogan was offered a rôle in the picture, so the newlyweds are working together happily when I stop by. They are dancing Hoagy Carmichael's "College Swing," a new dance which retains the best features of the St. Vitus, the shag, and the big apple.

Good Morning!

If you can believe in the large and mature Mr. Eddy as a cadet and in Miss Eleanor Powell as an airy princess, incognito-ing as a schoolgirl, why "Rosalie" may go over ll right with you. Me—I just couldn't see 'em that way.

"Big" is the adjective which best fits everything about the picture. The co-stars are big. Sets are huge. Scenery has sweep. As for the ensembles—there seem to be thousands of persons in them. And is that picture LONG! Well——

West Point and a mythical European kingdom are the story locales. . . . Cadet Dick Thorpe meets and falls in love with Vassarette Rosalie during certain school festivities. None of Rosalie's classmates know that she's royalty until the time comes for her to go home and marry a somebody she doesn't want to wed. . . .

Dickieboy promises that he'll look her up at a certain fiesta which occurs annually in her kingdom. At this time, Rosalie tells him, he'll find her dancing in the streets dressed as Pierrette. . . .

He flies over and a comedy of errors ensues, to the tune of much singing on the part of Mr. Eddy, much tapping on the part of Miss Powell, and much mass foot and torso work on the part of dancers commandeered by Albertina Rasch.

Miss Powell and Mr. Eddy are earnest and competent—but there IS a certain deadly sameness to their respective accomplishments. Frank Morgan and Ray Bolger contribute some comedy for which you're grateful. Supporting players are able and some of the music is sorta purty.

See you tomorrow.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Missing parts of an early choral symphonic work by the Finnish composer, Jan Sibelius, were sent as radio photos across the Atlantic ocean tonight, Boston Symphonic orchestra officials said, in time for its first American performance Friday afternoon. The lost parts of "Origin of Fire" vanished along with what is believed to be the composer's original manuscript of the complete score after being mailed in Leipzig, Germany, on Nov. 18. The radio pictures were received in New York early tonight.

90,000 Chicagoans Aided by Youth Administration

William J. Campbell, state National Youth administration director, estimated yesterday in his annual report that more than 90,000 Chicago boys and girls benefited from the NYA in 1937 through part time employment, educational opportunities and assistance in finding permanent work. He said approximately $3,500,000 was paid out in this state this year by NYA, of which about $1,169,770 went to Chicago youths.

Major Music Triumph Won by Rubinstein

BY CECIL SMITH.

Before a sold out house at the Chicago Symphony orchestra's Tuesday matinée concert in Orchestra hall, Artur Rubinstein, Polish pianist, played Tschaikowsky's B-flat minor concerto and won one of the major triumphs of the season. With the musicianly coöperation of Otto Klemperer, guest conductor from Los Angeles, he turned out a satisfying and definitive performance of the sort that haunts the memory long after the run-of-the-mine music making of the winter is forgotten.

Since Mr. Rubinstein had not played with the orchestra here since 1922, his accomplishments were unfamiliar to many of us except through the medium of phonograph records.

Within a minute or two after the beginning of the concerto, however, it became apparent that we could all sit back and listen without wondering whether his technique would be equal to the demands of this great spread-eagle virtuoso piece. By the time he finished the last movement his audience was heartily convinced that his dexterity was a full match for anything he might wish to play.

The tally of his virtues is not complete, however, with a mere recognition of his mechanical skill. He approached the concerto with the mature enthusiasm of one who recognizes that public performance is something more than the offhand repetition of music rehersed in solitude.

He seemed to be motivated by the will to create the music within our hearing, to shape the phrases for our special enjoyment, to make his lyrical legato tone sing the melodies for our own immediate excitement.

It was extraordinarily communicative playing, intimate because it related itself to our own musical feeling, yet remaining a trifle aloof because it maintained so supremely high a level of musicianship.

You will not be likely to hear the Chopinesque melody of the slow movement played with serener tone or more shapely contour of phrase. Nor will you, even from Horowitz, hear the rapid movements played with more virile accentuation or the bravura passages with rounder sonority. And through it all ran a feeling of urgency and of life, a constant realization that music is a mobile and not a static form of art.

Mr. Klemperer, conducting from memory, provided an excellent accompaniment, and mediated the soloist's quickening power to the orchestra, so that they too played vividly and brilliantly.

In Strauss' "Don Juan" and in a repetition of Beethoven's Fifth symphony Mr. Klemperer strengthened the impression he made last week of complete musical honesty and complete professional competence. He is not a prima donna conductor, to be sure. But we have not been spoiled in Chicago, thank goodness, and I hope Mr. Klemperer will return to California secure in the knowledge that we have both liked and admired him.

RUN!

By Patricia Wentworth

[Copyright: 1937: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.]

SYNOPSIS.

Delivering a new car to a customer James Elliot, lost in the fog, finds himself on some one's estate. Groping his way to the dark house, he stumbles over a bicycle. The front door is ajar. Entering, his flashlight reveals a girl, who commands him to "Run!" A shot whistles after them as they flee to hide in the hayloft. The girl tells James she was searching for a necklace her dying Aunt Clementa had told her was hidden in the house, called Rere place. The girl vanishes before James can learn more. At his cousin Daphne's party James meets the girl. She is Sally West, the sister of his college chum, Jocko West. She hints of danger to him—because of what he saw—her brother, and herself. Jackson, a rival salesman, takes credit for driving the car the night of the fog and is run over on the road and killed. Sally is in fear of Ambrose Sylvester, the novelist, who is her guardian and was her aunt's trustee; also his wife, Hildegarde, and the latter's cousin, Henri Niemeyer, who wants to marry Sally. Jocko, after receiving a letter from his dying aunt, was pushed off a cliff. After the accident the letter is missing and Jocko cannot remember its contents. The money Sally's aunt left to Jocko comes next to her, and, if she dies, to Ambrose. Sally and James fall in love, but she tells him it is too dangerous for them to meet. Returning home one night James barely escapes death from falling scaffolding. On his way to deliver a car James offers to drive Sally to Rere place, where Jocko is staying.

INSTALMENT XXXIII.

SECRET CRIME.

Sally did not speak or move. She looked straight in front of her.

"Sally," said James, "I've run out of patience—right out. If I'm to be any use to you, I've got to know everything that you know. You said they wouldn't risk it. You just shove along and tell me who they are."

"Ambrose," said Sally, in a little breathless voice. "At least I think so. But I don't know about Hildegarde. I don't like her, and that makes it so difficult. I mean it's so difficult to know whether you're being fair when you simply loathe some one and never want to see them again."

"Is that how you feel about Ambrose too?"

"No," said Sally. "I wish I did. James, that's why I've been such a fool about it. You see, I used to love Ambrose—terribly."

James spoke roughly.

"How do you mean you used to love him?"

"He used to come and see me at school. He was frightfully famous—it's faded a bit now, but every one was talking about him then—and when he came down to see me every one thought he was too marvelous. I wasn't the only one. We all fell passionately in love with him."

James grinned. He couldn't help it, the relief was so great.

"I can't think why," said James, "but I suppose girls must have something to pash for.'

"He's frightfully handsome. Nobody could possibly say he wasn't. And it was frightfully nice of him to come down and take me out, but, of course, he oughtn't to have made love to me."

"Sally!"

"O, nothing to look like that about. But I thought he meant it. In a way I think perhaps he did. I think he was wondering whether it mightn't be a good plan if he married me."

"Was he your guardian then?"

Sally nodded.

"Yes, that was just it. I was only sixteen. He'd have had to wait two years at least, and he couldn't afford to wait."

"What's all this about?" said James in a serious voice. "Why couldn't he afford to wait? Why should he want to marry you at all, if it comes to that?"

Sally's lips parted in a tremulous smile.

"Some people do," she murmured. "Some people want to very much. You said you did yourself. But Ambrose—I'm afraid it wasn't that with Ambrose—ever. You see—I've got—rather a lot of money."

"Three hundred a year?"

"And the rest," said Sally in a very small voice.

James said without looking round, "and what's the rest?"

"It's about three thousand a year really. Do you mind?"

"Why did Jocko lie about it?"

"I th-think he knew I was in love with you, and he didn't want to put you off."

After a minute James said, "that's a pretty big compliment. I don't know if I do mind. It's a bit of a shock. Why have you got such a lot?"

"It was my mother's money. Jocko's a half brother, you know. Both our mothers were Reres. But his mother hadn't any money. That's why Aunt Clementa left him hers."

"I see," said James. "Get back to Ambrose Sylvester. He married Hildegarde. When?"

"Five years ago. I was 17. I thought my heart was broken, but if Hildegarde had been nice to me, it would have mended up again and I should probably have taken her in and worshipped them both. I-I've got quite an affectionate nature, James."

"Wasn't she nice to you?"

"Beastly," said Sally. "Every time I was with her she made me feel as if everything about me was wrong, and every time she called me darling she made it sound like 'See now kind I am to this awkward little schoolgirl.' And she used to look at Ambrose, and Ambrose used to look back at her, and I used to wish I was dead."

Sally rubbed her cheek against it.

"You wouldn't like to tell me I'm rather nice and all that sort of thing, would you?"

"No," said James. He patted the shoulder. "I can't do it here—not properly. And you're not getting on about Ambrose. What makes you think he's crooked?"

He felt her wince.

"Little things—stupid things—piling up one on another. Little things—about money. He'd bought Warnley Place with the money from 'Links in the Chain,' and at first when he used to come down and see me at school he used to talk a lot about it. And then he started saying what a lot of money it took to keep it up. I don't think his second book sold as well as 'Links.' And then there were some short stories, and then he never wrote anything again. I never knew him when he was writing, and by the time he married Hildegarde I think he was pretty desperate. And every one thought she must have lots of money, because they began to entertain and go about a lot. But she hadn't, because once she was quarreling with Henri, and I thought they knew I was in the room, but it turned out afterward they didn't, and he said, 'It is your doing—you married him.' And she said, 'What can one do without money? One must do something. I hadn't a sou.' And then Henri saw me and hushed her up, and I thought I had better pretend I was asleep. And another time I was passing the library window at Warnley, and I heard Ambrose say with a sort of groan, 'Why did I ever begin?' And Hildegarde said, 'One must have money, my friend.' And he said it wasn't worth it, and she laughed and called him a coward."

"Where did the money come from?" said James.

"I don't know. I think Hildegarde and Henri showed him a way of getting it. I think it's something dangerous, something against the law. I know it is. They wouldn't go to such lengths to cover it up unless it was very dangerous indeed. But I don't know what it is—I really don't."

James ran over the possibilities in his own mind. Spy work, forgery—blackmail—dope—it might be any of these.

He said, "Go on."

"I think Aunt Clementa knew. I think she found out. I think Rere place was being—used. You see, Aunt Clementa was supposed to be bedridden. My father was her trustee—he looked after everything. And when he got ill he got the trusteeship transferred to Ambrose, and after that he made him my guardian. Ambrose's mother was a Rere too—rather a distant one, but they all hang together. Well, Ambrose got rid of all the old servants. It was quite easy. I saw it being done. Hildegarde used to go over and snoop at them till they gave notice. Annie stuck it out longer than any of them, but they got rid of her, saying that Aunt Clementa must have a proper nurse. Hildegarde got the doctor to say so."

Boys as Well as Girls Need a Social Lift

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Of course a lot depends upon whether you live in city or country, where your child goes to school, the neighborhood your home is in, and so forth. But on the whole I believe your boy's or girl's social life needs a little help from you. This is true particularly of your children as they come along into their teens when, either suddenly or gradually, the yen for "things going on" hits them.

Even the child who has always been quite self-sufficient or had an absorbing special interest will get that way. And when that time comes, if things don't get going by themselves, you ought to do something about it. And often in regard to sons as well as daughters this is necessary in spite of the idea that boys are always in demand.

Mothers are apt to think their daughters need a social lift but that their son's contacts and parties will take care of themselves. But they don't always, especially if a boy is not what we call a "mixer."

So don't think that because you have a son instead of a daughter you can stop helping him to paddle his canoe when he gets into his teens.

There are all sorts of ways of helping along the social activities of your teen age son or daughter. It's rather an individual problem but here are some suggestions:

If you know of any outdoor groups or any dancing classes, series of informal dances or school gatherings around the neighborhood try to get your boy or girl to join.

For the boy or girl who likes sports, becoming a member of a team furthers social contacts.

Encourage them to bring boys or girls home after school.

Give a few very informal parties; later they can be larger and more festive.

Have a moving picture party or matinée, followed by refreshments at home.

Other ideas will flow, once you put the old thinking cap on. And there's no better season of the year than right now—from Christmas on to Twelfth Night—to start your child's social ball rolling. Every one feels partyish anyhow at this time of the year and that makes an easy beginning.

The Housewife

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Have you ever wondered what type of blanket wears the best? Or how to tell linen from a cotton and linen weave? Or how to take care of china, so it will not become scratched? Or how to recognize well made furniture?

An invaluable aid to more intelligent, and therefore thriftier buying is a new book called "The Shopping Guide," published by Whittlesey House. It's written by 18 outstanding department store buyers with the single aim of telling you how to get your money's worth.

There are chapters on silver, shoes, handbags, furniture, table linen and towels, millinery, sheets and blankets, furs, gloves, and luggage. In short, just about every puzzling problem that confronts the housewife is solved by the experts who compiled this book. You can get it at your bookstore.

Head of Librarians Finds Style Cycles in Taste of Readers

The public follows cycles of styles and tastes in reading just as it does in women's dress, Dr. Harrison W. Craver, president of the American Library association, said in an interview last night. Dr. Craver had wide experience in directing general libraries before becoming librarian of the Engineering Societies' library in New York, a post he now holds.

"During the twenties novelists discovered sex. Now we have reverted to historical romances, the type that all of us read thirty or forty years ago," he said. "After all, sex has such limited possibilities. But I have a hunch that the time will come again when we discover sex again in our fiction and grow excited over it.

"At present there is a more widespread interest in economics and sociological works than there has been in many years. Men seem to want a realistic understanding of economics, while they are tired of realism in fiction."

DEPEND

"Whenever Antoinette or I get a cough ... that we can depend on REM ...

Mrs. J. W. Schickinger 620 S. Campbell St., Louisville

Here's Why:

"Every time!"—says Mrs. Schickinger. REM has a consistent record for results in thousands of families. There's a definite reason for that: REM is thorough, for coughs resulting from colds, because it works two ways . . . in the throat and also systemically. REM is much more than just a "tickle stopper."

and Mr. and Mrs. Nicolas Starosselsky will give a small dinner-dance this evening in the Onwentsia club for their daughters, Joan Revell and Anne Boswell.

Added to the list of pre-Junior Assembly dinners Friday is one the C. Colton Daughadays will give at the Casino for their subdeb daughter, Eleanor. Colton Daughaday Jr. and William Daughaday are at home from Harvard for the holidays, and Miss Marion Daughaday is at home from Bryn Mawr.

This morning at 11:30 o'clock Nicolas Nabokoff will lecture on "Contemporary Composers" at the Arts club. Music records will be used to illustrate the lecture.

Two Holiday Weddings Today.

Two more holiday weddings will take place today, one this afternoon in Winnetka, the other tonight in Lake Forest. Miss Muriel Picher, daughter of Mrs. Oliver S. Picher of Hubbard Woods, and Charles Robert Arnold, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick S. Arnold of Auburn, N. Y., will be married at 4:30 o'clock in Christ church, Winnetka.

At 7 o'clock Miss Josephine Fleming, daughter of the Joseph B. Flemings of Lake Forest, and Thomas MacPherson Thomas, son of Mrs. Cary Wood Thomas of Highland Park and of Charles N. Thomas of New York, will be married in the chapel of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest.

The bridegroom's father and the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard will officiate at the Arnold-Picher wedding, following which there will be a reception at the home of the bride's mother. Mrs. Picher Purcell has come from her studies in Paris to be matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Nancy Knode will be the maid of honor.

Bridesmaids for Miss Picher, whose brother, Staunton Picher, will give her away, include Miss Peggy Sargent, Miss Caroline Arnold, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Elizabeth Hollis of Hingham, Mass.

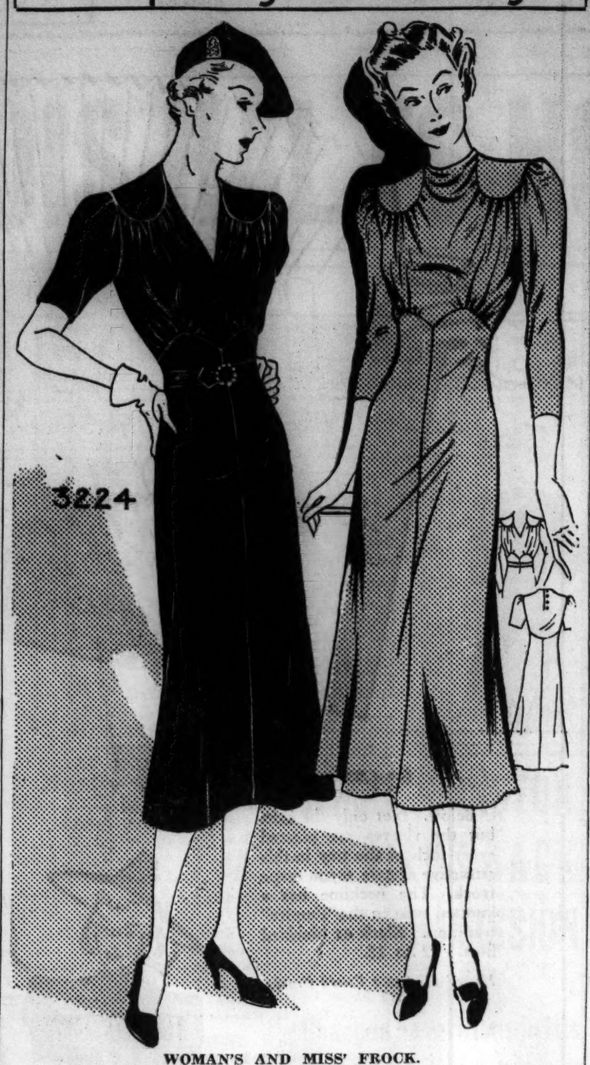
Peter Elder of Auburn will be best man for Mr. Arnold. A brother, Hendrick Arnold; Oliver M. Knode Jr., Arlindo S. Cate, who is engaged to Miss Knode; Charles Samson of Scarborough, N. Y., and Brice Frey of New York will usher.

Only Families Will See Fleming Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming are planning to give a garden reception for their daughter and Mr. Thomas in the spring when the garden is at its best. Tonight, however, there will be no reception following the wedding, at which the Rev. Herbert E. Prince will officiate.

Only the immediate family will hear Miss Fleming, wearing her mother's wedding gown, repeat the wedding vows with Mr. Thomas, and the same small group will return to the Flemings' house for a family dinner. The wedding gown was worn two years ago by Miss Fleming's sister, Charlotte, at her marriage to Norman Lee Cram. After a short wedding trip Mr. Thomas and his bride will be at home on the near north side.

Sculpturing and Shirring



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Sculptured lines and shirring unite to give this frock grace and distinction. It's a simple model to dignify your afternoon social events. The neckline may be draped or V. The bodice has shirring emanating from many points, creating a delightful softness, while the shoulders have plain sections suggestive of epaulets. The sleeves have shirring at the top, too, and may be short, long, or three-quarter length.

The waist is high, and no belt is needed, but if you wish one the pattern provides for it. The skirt has four panels that achieve ample width and grace, while preserving a straight and slender line.

Black always is popular, but this is the time of the year to avoid somberness. How about a bright color or subtle pastel in rich crêpe? Such a frock will be a charming contrast to your dark winter coat.

Style No. 3224 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material for dress with three-quarter length sleeves.

American or Jerusalem type artichokes now are in season and these knobby, crisp root vegetables are versatile enough to be kept on hand most of the time during that season.

I've included them in salad for this business woman's menu. They taste, when cooked, something like the globe artichoke, although they look more like turnip, and they taste, when raw, a little like celery, although the texture again resembles that of a fine turnip. A casserole meat dish and an easy dessert round out this menu.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S MENU.
Macaroni, Ham, and Cheese Casserole
Sliced Tomatoes
Carrot, Artichoke, and Pickle Salad
Whole Wheat Bread and Butter

Macaroni, Ham, and Cheese Casserole

[Serves Three.]

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅔ cup grated American cheese
1 cup cooked macaroni
¾ cup chopped cooked ham
2 sliced hard cooked eggs
¼ cup buttered crums

Make a white sauce of the first five ingredients and add the cheese when thick and smooth. Place macaroni, which has been cooked until tender in boiling, salted water, in a small buttered baking dish. Cover with a layer of sliced eggs and then with the ham. Pour cheese sauce over the combination and top with buttered crums. Bake at 350 degrees until crums are browned and dish is heated through, about 25 minutes.

Ready cooked ham may be purchased at a delicatessen, or canned ham may be used. Other cooked meat may be substituted if it is more readily available. Chopped cooked beef, lamb, pork, veal, or fowl may be treated in the same manner for a casserole dish. More salt will be needed if ham is not used.

For the salad the vegetables may be grated or ground, in which case use a mayonnaise dressing, or they may be thinly sliced and combined with French dressing. Chicory or lettuce makes a good salad base. The crispness of the American or Jerusalem artichoke is a fine recommendation for its use in salad. In case it isn't available in your market substitute drained, crushed pineapple. This changes the flavor and texture of the salad, but is equally appropriate for the rest of the menu. If the pineapple is used pickle may be omitted. Use equal parts of carrot and either artichoke or pineapple.

Crum Macaroons.

[2½ Dozen Small Cookies.]

1 cup fine, dry bread crums
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts

Combine crums, sugar, salt, and nuts. Beat eggs well. Add vanilla. Combine eggs and vanilla with dry ingredients, mixing well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from baking sheet at once.

This is a quick cookie which puts left-over crums to the best possible use.

Party Clothes Assure Bright New Year's Eve

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The big rush for party clothes, good decorative New Year's party creations, is going strong. From the wide skirted chiffons to dozens of sophisticated sheath effects, slit to the kneeline in front, the supplies are endless.

We cruised about in search of festive ideas priced for clothes allowances crippled by the late buying binge, and found some honeys. For about thirty dollars you can get luscious chiffons with pleated skirts, glittering belts, and tiny bodices decorated with clips. These are snow white, the most popular color of the hour. For quite a few dollars less you can get some smart pleated affairs of vivid silk prints. These were fashioned for tropic wardrobes, but make ideal eye blinders for any holiday occasions up north.

The white prints with huge cabbage red roses are stunning. The satin and silk materials gleam with crisp smartness and the printed patterns are effective and unusual. These printed dance dresses are brand new, come in two styles, the full skirted and pleated, or the slinky sheath models.

There's one winner in black net for about fifteen dollars, but worth a good riot by appreciative shoppers. The skirt is pleated in vertical lines stitched down over the hips for slim smoothness.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Ellen Jane Work, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McClean Work, 6022 Woodlawn avenue, to Philip Provart Harriss, son of Judge and Mrs. J. H. Harriss of Duquoin, Ill., will take place this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

This is a glamorous season and our mind should probably be on more colorful and exciting things. But aching feet seem to be the most common aliment of the day; five out of every ten people of our acquaintance are slipping their shoes off under the festive tables and wishing that the discomfort would go away. Don't ask us why. It's just so.

Maybe it's because of Christmas shopping; maybe it's wearing galoshes as much as we must this weather. In any case, if your feet hurt you don't have a nickel's worth of holiday cheer—and something had ought to be done about it.

First of all there's the chiropodist. If there are any little corns or funny bumps [that might grow into ugly, painful bunions] the chiropodist is the friend to turn to. Don't think you can get very far by playing doctor yourself.

If the feet are i.. perfect condition but still play tricks on you, you should look to the care you give them. See that stockings and shoes aren't too short. If your shoes are too tight your feet will not only hurt like blazes but they'll perspire a lot more than is good or comfortable.

Apply a little cream to your feet at night. The massage is soothing and the rough skin responds wonderfully to the softening. Always dust a little talcum over the feet after your morning bath. If they ache dreadfully at night soak them in warm, then cold water, and finish off with a cooling cologne rub.

For the good of your face and your figure take care of your feet. If they ache you'll look haggard. If they're not in good working order your posture will be wrong and pretty soon your figure will be, too!

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Ballet Revives Old Ecstasy of Its Audiences

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Brilliantly versatile and guided by a strong theatrical instinct, the Ballet Russe last evening mounted in quick succession two of the most violently contrasting pieces in its répertoire and drove from the Auditorium the last vestige of the languor which has marked so many of this year's audiences.

The change was apparent even after "The Hundred Kisses." At the conclusion of "Francesca da Rimini" the old building rang at last with the applause and shouts of a multitude which decided all of a sudden that the hour had come to take its hands out of its pockets and to blast all inhibitory dams.

The former piece must be excellent ballet, for it is very hard to break it down into its component parts. Obviously its enchanting effect proceeds neither from the choreography of Nijinska nor from the décor of Hugo and Schervachidze. Nor from the expert manner in which the performers mime its frail and delicate story. Certainly not from the music, which is probably pretty dreadful if you stop to analyze it.

"The Hundred Kisses" makes its effect as a unit, an admirable fusion of the various elements of ballet. Make the mistake of thinking of the music alone and you call it shallow, facile, rich in clichés. But notice how the magic of this very music piles itself over the stage, becomes part of the whole composition, enters naturally into every motion of the dancers.

The contrast came when "The Hundred Kisses," with the dainty carryings-on of Baronova and Lichine, was followed by "Francesca da Rimini" a clamorous tale of medieval love and murder mimed against vaguely Giottoese settings by Tchernicheva, Platoff, Petroff and company.

The starkness and the suggestion of the angular in Litchin's choreography fit admirably the primitive settings and the spirit of the sorrowful tale told in Dante's "Inferno." Strangely, the music of Tchaikowsky succeeds in fitting itself to story, choreography and settings, the whole making one of the most superb anachronisms that have ever distracted scholars and delighted audiences.

Harshness and violence are the keynotes of the piece, yet "Francesca" is not without its compensating lyricism. The nobility of Tchernicheva's miming of the luckless wife, the quiet beauty of her passages with Petroff, the apparitions out of Arthurian legends—here are superbly imaginative bits which offer the needed contrast without changing the dark humor of the piece.

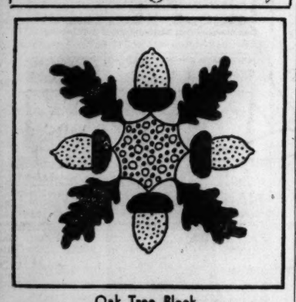
Miss Anna O'Rourke is chairman of a dance the Sacred Heart convent is giving at the Congress hotel tonight. This will be one of the last Sacred Heart dances Miss O'Rourke will attend as she is a senior.

'Oak Tree Block' Applique Quilt Has Long History



Oak Tree Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Oak Tree Block" is one of the old quilts which have histories dating back a hundred years and more. It first was appliqued in New York on Long Island. It was taken to Rhode Island and then moved across the continent. Now it is found in any collection in which applique coverlets are on exhibition. The pattern is not difficult to use, but extreme care and attention must be given to the leaves. A combination of printed and plain materials may be used to attain the quaint charm of the original block, although all plain colors may be employed. The finished square measures 12 inches and 30 applique blocks are set together with four inch bands between the blocks.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stocker, 472 Sheridan road, Evanston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeannette, to Russel C. Nelson, son of N. George Nelson, 4331 North Paulina street. Miss Stocker is a graduate of the University School for Girls and the University of Illinois. Mr. Nelson went to Knox college, and was graduated from Northwestern university.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Pettersen, 455 Kenilworth avenue, Elmhurst, announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte Ann, to Clarence Louis Cade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cade, 912 Elmwood avenue, Oak Park. Miss Pettersen was graduated from Northwestern university in 1936, where she was a member of Mortar Board. Mr. Cade was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1934.

According to CULBERTSON

DROP MISFITS QUICKLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The answers to Question No. 53 in the recent examination were a great disappointment to me. Just when I had become convinced that few players err on the side of aggressiveness, the average tendency being toward super-caution, I was astonished to find that a certain type of bidding acts as a natural trap. Question 53 was:

You are South. Both sides are vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	?

You hold:

♠ 9 8 6 5 3 ♥ None ♦ Q 10 7 4 2 ♣ A 8 5

What call do you make now?

The answer was that you should pass and be delighted to "get from under" in a situation that strongly implies a misfit. Seven hundred and twelve contestants of the 1,168 who answered this question by mail seemed to find a strength in South's holding that had not been apparent to me; at any rate, 615 of that group showed the diamond suit, while the other 97 raised the club bid. I have an idea that all of these players were under the thrall of the quite fallacious theory that partner, having started with one suit and later shown another, was advertising a big hand. As I explained just the other day in this column, there is nothing in this theory. North has advertised nothing except an opening bid with two biddable suits, hearts and clubs. If South now bids two diamonds, or raises the clubs, and if North holds about three and a half to four honor tricks, the partnership very likely will find itself in three no trump. And what would happen to such a contract would be too horrible to visualize!

TODAY'S HAND.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's bid was a stretch, but not illogical considering his fear of any bid from the opponents.

West opened the club king, and East followed with the queen. The ace of clubs was cashed, and a third round played, which South ruffed. A low spade lead to the queen cleared up the trump situation, and a heart then was played to the queen. West won and, mentally tossing a coin between a heart and diamond return, chose the former. Declarer could not avoid the loss of a diamond for the setting trick.

Declarer had lost a splendid opportunity. After taking out the opponents' only trump he should have seen there was no hurry about the heart finesse. The sensible play was to lead a heart from dummy and to play the nine from the closed hand. As it happened, West would have had to use his heart king on the nine and the contract would have become a laydown. But even if West had been able to win with a minor honor, he still would have had to guess whether to return a heart or a diamond. The former, of course, would relieve declarer of any worry. True, if the nine lost to the ten and a diamond were returned, then if declarer entered dummy and finessed to the heart queen and lost, he would go down an extra trick, but surely that extra 50 points had no bearing on the best way to play the hand. Finesses, necessary or not, should be deferred as long as possible.

ILLINOIS HALTS NOTRE DAME, 33-32; OVERTIME

SUTHERLAND OF PITT TO QUIT IN 1938, REPORT

Head Coach May Go to U. S. C.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—The Sun-Telegraph said today Dr. John B. Sutherland is preparing to resign as football coach of the University of Pittsburgh, his alma mater, effective at the end of next season.

Jock Sutherland.

The conclusion was drawn by his friends from developments since the close of the 1937 campaign last month, with its aftermath of the players spurning an expected invitation to play in the Rose Bowl game on New Year's day.

The veteran coach was on his way to New Orleans today with Bill Kern and Clipper Smith, Carnegie Tech and Duquesne university coaches, for the annual meeting of the National Collegate Coaches' association, and to attend the Sugar Bowl game between Louisiana State and Santa Clara on Saturday. It was intimated his plans may be revealed there.

Alumni Are Divided.

The Pitt alumni have been a divided camp since the Rose Bowl game turn down by vote of the players, and the resultant flow of unfavorable publicity. Therefore, a showdown is regarded as certain.

Coach Sutherland is reported to have lost favor with Chancellor John G. Bowman and other administrative officers of the university for his stand in the matter.

Some assert the players' vote was influenced by the coach, who was said to be opposed to returning to Pasadena, where last New Year's day the Panthers defeated the University of Washington, 21 to 0, for their first victory in four appearances in the Rose Bowl.

They're Not Exactly Friends.

Friends of the coach feel it was aimed at him in retaliation for Sutherland's success in his feud with W. Don Harrison, whom he had ousted as athletic director last winter.

It is no secret that Sutherland and James A. Hagan, one of his former players, now athletic director, have not been on friendly terms.

It has been reported in Los Angeles that Sutherland has been engaged to succeed Howard Jones as coach at the University of Southern California, beginning with the 1939 season.

John Weber, Pitt business manager, was out of the city today. Neither Athletic Director Hagan nor Publicity Director Frank Carver would admit knowledge of any plan of Sutherland to resign.

He's Threatened Before.

Twice before Sutherland, who has rounded out fourteen seasons as head coach at Pitt, has threatened to leave.

The first time was about five years ago when rumors indicated he would go to Yale, Columbia, California, or one of several other large colleges, unless difficulties between himself and Director Harrison were ironed out.

Bickering between the pair cropped out again following the Rose Bowl victory of a year ago.

Bruins Whip Rangers, 3-2, After Fight

Boston, Mass., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins advanced three games ahead of the New York Rangers in the American division of the National Hocky league tonight by defeating the Rangers for a 3 to 2 victory before an overflow crowd of 16,000.

Milt Schmidt, Boston center, suffered a fractured jaw bone in a collision with Mac Colville and Phil Watson's forehead was cut when Eddie Shore rapped him with his stick during the fierce contest.

Watson and Shore jostled each other, waving their sticks high, from the New York net to the middle of the center zone before they came to blows. As they bumped each other down the ice, Referee Clarence Campbell warned them to desist.

Shore Fells Watson.

Watson, however, aimed a slash at Shore's neck. Shore ducked the swing and retaliated by striking with such force that Watson dropped to the ice and remained there for five minutes.

Shore drew a major penalty for the assault and Watson received the same sentence because, Campbell explained, "He provoked Shore."

The Bruins pulled into a 2 to 0 lead on goals scored by Cooney Weiland and Bill Cowley during the first 21 minutes of play. Six minutes later the Rangers took advantage of Dit Clapper's penalty and tied the score, Clint Smith and Cecil Dillon countering.

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Led by Goalie Turk Broda, the Toronto Maple Leafs increased their lead in the international section by defeating the New York Americans, 3 to 0, tonight before 13,258.

Two of the Leaf goals were scored on breakaways from New York power plays as the Americans tried in vain to beat the Toronto goalie.

JIMMY JOHNSTON STRIKES BACK AT COMMISSION

Charges Favoritism in His Reply to Libel Suit.

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—So sensational were the items listed in Jimmy Johnston's answer to State Boxing Commissioner John Phelan's libel suit in Supreme court today, that a summary investigation of the boxing commission by Gov. Lehman loomed as a result. A copy of the answer was sent to the governor.

Johnston, recently deposed as Madison Square Garden matchmaker and who was sued for $10,000 damages because he said: "The boxing commission has an interest in Mike Jacobs' 20th Century club," filed an answer, the highlights of which follow:

1. "For the purpose of currying favor with the commission," the Century club employed James Brown, brother of plaintiff's co-commissioner William Brown, as special officer and doorman.

2. That Phelan knew James Brown was on the Century club's payroll.

3. That James Brown's wages are still "paid out of proceeds of boxing" conducted under the commission.

Cites Family Connection.

4. That if Phelan and William Brown [constituting a majority], were called upon to forfeit the Century club license, or suspend it, as provided by law, this would interfere with the profits of the club and interfere with employment of James Brown.

5. That it was Phelan's duty to issue an order requesting the Century club to discontinue the employment connection between James Brown and the club.

6. That, as an alternative, it was Phelan's duty as chairman to require Bill Brown not to vote in any proceedings remotely affecting his brother, James Brown, or Brown's club's chief competitor, the Garden.

As a separate defense, Johnston charges the commission with a consistently "hostile attitude" toward his club, the Garden, in favor of James Brown's club, the 20th Century.

Describes "Hostile" Attitude.

He lists:

1. Brown's and Phelan's readiness to ballyhoo 20th Century fighters, such as Harry Thomas. But when a Johnston fighter, such as Max Baer, was training for Carnera, Brown called Baer a "bum." This hurt the ticket sales. [Baer knocked out Carnera].

2. That boxers Johnston tried to use were not approved by the commission, but the same boxers were approved when the Century wished to use them.

3. The commission permitted the Century club to operate on Monday nights in direct competition with St. Nicholas arena [run by Johnston's son].

4. Phelan stated publicly "he had worked harder and done more for the Century club than any one else in so far as arranging matches was concerned."

5. The commission refused Johnston a license for Sharkey, but okayed a Sharkey license when the Century club asked it.

6. The commission refused a license for Schmeling-Braddock, but okayed a Schmeling-Louis match when the Century club asked it.

Recalls Braddock Case.

7. The commission failed to take effective action to compel Braddock to box Schmeling, "thus facilitating a bout in which the Century club made large profits at Chicago."

8. The commission permitted Louis later to come into New York even though Louis had "aided Braddock in violating the commission rules."

Other instances were listed in the answer, which, boiled down out of its legal verbiage, sought to point out that, as Johnston himself expressed it, "anything Mike Jacobs wanted, he got; anything I wanted, they blocked."

Attorney Jeremiah A. O'Leary is representing Johnston.

At the end of the first round of the eighth annual University of Chicago interscholastic basketball tournament last night, McKinley, Calumet, Lindblom, Parker, Wells, Tilden, Tuley, Du Sable, Crane, Manley, Von Steuben, Bowen, Foreman, Harper, Austin, and Farragut still were in the running.

Of yesterday's winners, Harper and Austin, last year's runner-up, showed the most power. In the evening session, both romped over their opponents for easy victories.

Farragut Shows Power.

The final game of the night between Farragut and Steinmetz looked to be an even match for the first half, which ended with Farragut leading, 15 to 11, but Farragut overwhelmed Steinmetz in the second half, running the score to 39 to 16.

Crane loomed as a serious contender for championship recognition by swamping Morgan Park, 32 to 19, in the opening game of the day.

Bowen Outlasts Phillips.

The most exciting game was the one between Bowen and Phillips. At the end of the third quarter Bowen had built up a 9 point advantage but a last minute drive by the veteran Phillips quintet left Bowen with only a 26 to 24 victory.

The third game of the afternoon between Von Steuben and Marshall, ended 43 to 35 in favor of Von Steuben. Harry Wolinsky, Von Steuben guard, gave one of the best exhibitions of the first round, with some spectacular long shots. Von Steuben led, 19 to 17, at the half.

Manley Beats Lane.

Lane Tech was upset by a tenacious Manley quintet in the second game of the afternoon, 24 to 15. In the closing game of the afternoon Foreman, trailing Roosevelt, 11 to 8, at the end of the half, came from behind to a 32 to 26 victory.

Harper opened the evening session by trouncing Harrison, 39 to 14. By working the ball up to the basket for setups, Harper piled up a 20 to 6 lead by the end of the first half. Harper added thirteen more points in the third quarter and six in the final. The Harper lads completely dominated Harrison throughout the game due to plays of Van Dyken, Thompson and Plahn who made 12, 8 and 8 points, respectively.

Austin Whips Englewood.

Following the massacre of Harrison by Harper, Austin High, last year's runner-up, routed Englewood, quarter finalist last year, 44 to 16. Austin led, 26 to 4, at the half. This lead was lengthened to 38 to 10 during the third quarter by a quintet of substitutes.

George Felt, Austin center, ran up fifteen points to tie with Harry Wroblewski of Foreman for high indi-

Indiana and Purdue Fives Win on Coast

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—A couple of basketball teams from Indiana scored a twin victory over Southern California and California at Los Angeles in an intersectional double-header before an overflow crowd of 8,000 at the pan-Pacific auditorium tonight.

In the opener the Indiana university defeated U. C. L. A., 42 to 33, and cleared the wa for a game in which Purdue, a favorite to win the big ten championship, finally finished ahead of Southern California, 49 to 43.

The first game was dull. Indiana took the lead early and was never seriously threatened. In the second the Trojans gave the Boilermakers a real battle until the final five minutes, when Purdue showed superior speed and Guard Tommy Dickinson broke loose for three baskets to boost his team's lead to 49 to 38.

Ralph Vaughn, Trojan sophomore forward, made eight baskets and a free throw for 17 points. Jewell Young, Purdue forward, scored but ten points, but his expert ball handling and speed stood out. Young was assisted by Johnny Sines, Gene Anderson and Dickinson. Sines scored 13 points, while Anderson had 11 and Dickinson 10.

The Trojans had a 7 to 0 lead before the Boilermakers began hitting the hoop. Purdue moved ahead, 15 to 12, when Young threw in a left handed shot and followed with a goal from midcourt. But Southern California tied the score again at 23 all, and left the court at half time leading, 27 to 23.

The Trojans boosted their margin to 36 to 29 before Purdue again got the range. Sines scored six points to make it 36 to 35 before Sears made good a free throw for U. S. C. A foul toss and two baskets by Dickinson sent Purdue ahead again, 38 to 37. Sines followed with another pair of baskets, following which Dickinson put on his demonstration.

Lead at Half, 26-15.

Led by Bill Johnson, Indiana piled up a 26 to 15 advantage at the first half and was content to keep the Bruins at a safe distance in the second half. Indiana mixed up its attack with fast and slow breaks that featured clever work under the basket and made most of its shots good in the first half.

Johnson was high scorer for the Hoosiers with 14 points, and was followed by his teammates, Guards Joe Platt and Ernie Andres, who made 11 and 10 points, respectively. Bob Calkins, slender forward, led the Bruins with 11 points, one more than was scored by Crossan Hays, center.

SHATTER IRISH WINNING STREAK AT 19 STRAIGHT

Dehner's FreeThrow Clinches It.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—One slight error, a personal foul on the part of Rex Ellis of Notre Dame, gave the University of Illinois basketball team the opening it needed tonight to whip the Irish, 33 to 32, in an overtime battle. The defeat ended a nineteen game winning streak for the Irish, who led, 15 to 11, at one stage of the first half.

Pick Dehner.

The Illini were ahead, 32 to 30, when Ellis fouled Pick Dehner after three minutes of overtime play. Pick stepped calmly to the free throw line and dropped the ball through the hoop to give Illinois the margin it needed. Earl Brown scored from near the sideline for Notre Dame just as the game ended.

Boudreau Makes No. 5.

Louie Boudreau of the Illini, who tied with Dehner and Notre Dame's Ed Sadowski for high point honors with thirteen, opened the scoring as the extra period began with a long basket, his fifth of the game. Then came Ellis' slip and Dehner's decisive free throw.

Illinois' accuracy at the free throw line was the deciding factor. Outscored, 15 to 11 from the field, the Illini made good on eleven of fourteen free throw chances, while the Irish could connect on only two in seven attempts.

It was the fifth victory in six starts this season for the Illini, who broke even last year in their two games with the Irish. Notre Dame entered the game with victories over Columbia college, Ball State Teachers, Western Teachers [Michigan], Wisconsin, Northwestern, and Xavier to its credit.

Tied at Half.

Free throws kept the Illini in the running during the first half. Nisbet scored the first points with a short basket, but Moir tied the score with a short side shot.

The Irish took the lead on Sadowski's basket on an out of bounds play before Dehner tied the score. Baskets by Moir and Nowak and a free throw by the former gave Notre Dame a 9 to 4 lead before Illinois scored on Hapac's free throw.

Nowak increased the Irish score to 11, but Dehner came through with two baskets. Brown and Nowak finished the Notre Dame scoring for the half with baskets.

Nisbet raised Illinois' total to 11 with two free throws, while Hapac and Nisbet made other single points. As the gun ended the half Boudreau's long shot swished through the hoop to tie the score at 15 all.

Illini Move Ahead.

Dehner put Illinois in front with a free throw on Nowak's personal. Two shots by Boudreau gave Illinois a 20 to 17 lead after Nowak's basket. Boudreau hit two free throws. Nowak and Moir failed to count free throws on personals which lost Wardley for Illinois. Dehner followed with a long shot and Illinois led, 24 to 17. Sadowski made Notre Dame's second basket for the half and Illinois took time out.

Dehner hit a short shot and Illinois was in front, 26 to 19. Two baskets by Sadowski put the Irish back in the running. Nowak left the game on four personals and Boudreau made the point.

Boudreau dribbled the length of the floor for a basket after Dehner's free throw. Sadowski's basket and free throw made it 30 to 28. Sadowski tied the score with an under-the-basket shot.

MRS. WHITNEY'S STABLES BURN; 8 HORSES LOST

Red Bank, N. J., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Smoke killed eight thoroughbred horses as fire swept Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree farms, near Red Bank, early tonight. Stable hands saved sixty other mounts that were turned out to pasture, while nine ...re companies fought the blaze. The loss was estimated at $25,000.

The only race horse of importance among those destroyed was Pound Foolish, a yearling filly of considerable promise, which was a half-sister of Twenty Grand.

There were 19 horses in the auxiliary barn of the stables to which the blaze was confined, but 50 tons of hay also were consumed by the flames. The fire was blamed on defective wiring.

Brundage Calls Meeting to Plan 1940 Olympics

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the American Olympic association, tonight announced the first steps toward organizing America's 1940 Olympic campaign will be taken at a meeting called here on Jan. 8. Policies will be formed and committees elected. A committee for each sport on the Olympic program will be named, and these committees will decide the place, time, and methods for tryouts.

ROSE BOWL FOES QUIT FOOLING; LOCK ALL GATES

It's Secret Drill from Here On In.

Up to now they might just as well have held their practices on Pasadena's main street. Supporters of both elevens have trooped back and forth from one camp to the other. Alabama's football minded young president, Dr. Richard C. Foster, watched California's first workout.

California went through its paces for the photographers this morning and then scheduled a workout so exclusive that even Coach Stub Allison might have trouble getting in.

Frank Thomas, Alabama coach, let his boys drive over to Hollywood for an inspection-luncheon at a movie studio, and then carted them back for a brisk drill.

Thomas said he feared the squad was too finely drawn and the studio trip, annually a part of the Rose Bowl program, served as mental diversion.

EAST-WEST SCRIMMAGE

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Eastern and western football stars, preparing for the annual charity game here New Year's day, today charged through scrimmages. These workouts were expected to conclude the contact work. Pick-up opposition enabled the east squad to concentrate on the ground attack it is expected to stress against the west.

Lateral passes probably will not play an important part in the easterners' attack. Coaches Bernie Bierman and Andy Kerr concurred in the opinion this phase of ball flipping is "too dangerous."

At Stanford university the western squad experimented with five new plays and polished off an offense which now includes 25 plays. The drill culminated with contact work on punt formation and returns of kicks.

MICHIGAN STATE ON DISPLAY.

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The Michigan State football team, here to play Auburn in the Orange Bowl game Saturday, went on display in Burdine stadium today.

After a dress drill with the public looking on, the squad returned to its regular practice grounds and went into secret scrimmage.

AUBURN IS READY.

PLAN NO CHANGE IN SILVER SKATE DERBIES' DATES

Parks Prepare Alternate Rink for Races.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Although thawing weather now will prevent boys and girls who wish to compete in the Silver Skates Derby from practicing, entries must be mailed regardless, for arrangements have been completed to hold the contests as scheduled on Jan. 15 and 16. Even if the races must be postponed, entries received prior to midnight, Jan. 9, the deadline for the 1938 contests, will determine eligibility when they are held.

There is no reason to believe now that the twenty-first annual races cannot be held Jan. 15 and 16 at Garfield park, since the lagoon has been frozen although it now is unsafe. Only a brief cold wave is necessary to insure a safe racing surface. Garfield park is the ideal place for the races since there are accommodations for thousands of contestants, but yesterday the Chicago park district also planned to prepare the boat house at Humboldt park in case the Derbies were shifted to that site. Humboldt park lagoon is exposed on the north and on occasion, as last Sunday, it is possible to skate there when the ice on the Garfield park lagoon is too soft.

Park Directors to Help.

In case weather conditions prevent skating, the Derbies will be postponed until Jan. 22 and 23. The Illinois Skating association has given THE TRIBUNE an option on these dates.

J. P. Gallagher of the park district will direct preparations to house the contestants and prepare facilities for the officials who will assign the skaters to preliminary races. Nathan Balter and the Garfield and Humboldt park instructors and supervisors also will assist. It is planned to erect a series of bleachers along the edge of Garfield park lagoon for spectators.

At least three age classes, the boy's midget, juvenile, and junior classes, will report for preliminary races on Jan. 15.

If the size of the boys' intermediate or the girls' junior classes warants, qualifying trials in these also will be held on Saturday. Other trials and all championships will be decided on Sunday, Jan. 16.

Skaters Must Register.

There is no entry fee for any contestant. Skaters 16 years of age and over must be registered with the Illinois Skating association. This 25 cent charge for registration entitles the contestant to compete in any sanctioned meet during this skating season and does not apply to Silver Skates only. Now that the first of the sanctioned meets has been held and since there are two more to be held before the Tribune races, many in the list of Silver Skates groups for those 16 years of age and older already have registered. If you are not registered this can be done on the day you report for your qualifying trial.

CHANGE C. Y. O. RESULTS

The photograph of the finish of the disputed class A men's 440 yard dash in the Catholic Youth organization races last Sunday at Humboldt park indicated the judges erred. For this reason, Bernie Cannata, who was picked fourth, was given 20 points by the racing board last night. Points are not given for fourth place as a rule. They are won on the 30-20-10 basis for first, second, and third, respectively. Eddie Schroeder, who was picked third by the judges, was also given 20 markers.

Ruling Is Explained.

Earl W. Solem, president of the Illinois Skating association, acted as referee. He explained the verdict of the racing board as follows:

"Although it is not customary to reverse a competent judge's decision, the picture clearly shows Cannata among the first three to finish. Two judges picked Bob Sherman to win, two picked Tony Neberz for second, and the third place pickers divided their votes between Eddie Schroeder and Bernie Cannata. On the other hand, the pair of fourth place judges chose Schroeder for fourth. This made it compulsory for Chief Dan Canaday to give the third to Schroeder.

"The racing board decided to give Neberz, Schroeder, and Cannata 20 points each and 30 points to the winner, Bob Sherman. This rating is not applied to the team standings which remain as is with Northwest 520 and the C. Y. O. 500."

Other Derbies Scheduled.

The Sleipner club, which will hold its 45th annual Derby at Humboldt park Saturday afternoon, will also have the camera-eye for the close finishes, it was announced yesterday by J. Morris Backer of Sleipner. The Northwest club also wants the camera for its Derby Sunday at Humboldt park.

Londos Comes Back Today to Wrestle Bruns

Jim Londos will return today from Detroit, where he defeated Ali Baba last night, for a bout with Bobby Bruns at the Coliseum tomorrow. It will be Londos' first Chicago appearance since he conquered Everett Marshall in 37 minutes 3 seconds at the Stadium Jan. 19, 1935.

The former heavyweight wrestling champion is in line for an engagement with Bronko Nagurski at the Stadium next spring. Tomorrow's preliminary card matches Al Williams with Jack Conley, Whitey Govro with Chief Thunderbird, Pat McCleary with Jim McMillen, Ruffy Silverstein with Rudy Kay, and Lee Wykoff with Fred Grubmier.

Patrick Landsdowne will make his Chicago debut against Al Williams, Fox Lake light heavyweight, in the windup bout of the wrestling show tonight at Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Jim Londos will be a spectator. Supporting matches will bring together Ole Olson and Pat McCleary, Rudy Kay and Jack Conley, Denny Lentz and Roy Rickenbacher, and Tony Martini and Danny Winters. . . . The final amateur show of the 1937 campaign will be held this evening at Northwest arena, 3968 Milwaukee avenue, headed by two contests at five rounds concerning Billy Kline and Jesse Yarber, and Eddie Lander and Georgie Holt. . . . Efforts are being made to rematch Verne Patterson and Tony Petroskey, Muskegon welterweight, in an eight round contest at Marigold Gardens Monday. Nate Bolden and Tony Zale are principals in an eight round co-feature. Alex Kettles opposes Young Pettitt, Cincinnati heavyweight, in a four rounder. . . .

Johnny Pena, New York junior lightweight, has been signed to face Pete Lello in a six rounder on the card headed by Freddy Steele and Fred Apostoli at Madison Square Garden Jan. 7. . . . Milt Aron expects to go through with a scheduled ten round engagement with Baby Sal Saban at the New York Hippodrome Jan. 5 despite the fact that he bruised his right hand while knocking out Lou Raymond at Marigold last Monday. Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioner J. R. Fitzpatrick of the state boxing board yesterday handed Raymond an indefinite suspension for his unsatisfactory performance against Aron. F. M.

Name Eddie Moore Manager of New Spartanburg Club

Spartanburg, S. C., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Eddie Moore, former major league player and manager of the Atlanta club of the Southern association for the last three seasons, today accepted the job of player-manager of the new Spartanburg, South Atlantic league, club. Moore played with the Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves, and Cleveland Indians.

BUSINESS MEN MEET TODAY TO SEEK TITLE BOUT

A meeting of the Citizens' committee, a newly formed organization comprised of professional and business leaders, will be held this noon at the Morrison hotel in the first of a series of moves to bring the heavyweight championship bout between Joe Louis and Challenger Max Schmeling to Chicago next June.

Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois boxing commission will open the session. Triner then will turn the gavel over to Sheldon Clark, who is chairman of the committee. Today's business will include the formation of a resolutions committee.

Resolution Is Planned.

Subsequently, this subcommittee will ask the representatives of the various associations of the civic organization, numbering more than twenty-five, to sign a resolution, certifying that the bout will get wholehearted support if held in Chicago.

Triner proposes to leave for New York about Jan. 6 to present this coöperative agreement to Mike Jacobs, head of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, which holds the contracts for the Schmeling-Louis fight, as a means of showing Chicago wants the match more than any other city.

Committee Is Listed.

The committee includes the following:

D. F. Kelly, president, The Fair; Robert D. Lay, president, Chicago Athletic association; Charles R. Walgreen, president Walgreen company; John A. Ritchie, president, Chicago Motor Coach; Thomas E. Wilson, president, Wilson Packing company; Thadeus R. Benson, president, Chicago Stock exchange; William Hennessy, secretary, Chicago Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Charles Burkholder, president, Central Lions club.

CHICAGO ALUMNI CHAPTER HONORS BIG GREEN TEAM

Chicago's alumni and undergraduates of Dartmouth college will gather in Mandel's at 12:15 today to honor the school's undefeated 1937 football team. Among the speakers will be W. B. Knight, Big Ten official and alumni councilor from this district; Bob McLeod, former Glenbard High school star who will captain the Big Green eleven next fall, and Dick Campbell and Phil Dostal, sophomore lettermen from New Trier High. McLeod was recognized as one of the best all around backs in the country this season, while Dostal and Campbell starred in the line, particularly in the Yale game, when Clint Frank was practically stopped.

CLASSIC LEAGUE BOWLS TONIGHT ON NORTH SIDE

The Classic league will bowl at the Gold Coast recreation, 1213 North Clark street, tonight. The Charles H. Webers will meet the Monarch Beers; the Oak Leaf Motors will face the Baby Ruth Candies; the Triangle Bowling Shirts will oppose the Prager Beers, new city champions, and the Pabst Blue Ribbons will roll against the Power House Candies.

Dykes Thinks Yankees Will Miss Lazzeri

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Jim Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, said today he is sure of one thing and that is that the New York Yankees won't run off with the American league pennant in 1938.

"I'll even lay you odds that the Yankees don't win the pennant," the little round man said. He added that it isn't simply because he thinks his recent trade with Detroit will make his 1938 club the league's best, that the Yankees' two man pitching staf won't be able to do it again, or that Joe Di Maggio will come up with a .150 season in batting.

They'll Miss Tony.

"They won't win because Lazzeri's gone," Dykes said. "He was the brains of the ball club. Whenever some pitcher got into a jam, whenever Catcher Bill Dickey was undecided what to call for, or whenever the outfielders needed directions on where to play for a certain hitter—they went to Lazzeri. He was the dynamo that ran that club. The fans did not know this, but we ball players did. Watch what happens next year."

Dykes' story is an old one around some American league dugouts. One heard that Lazzeri pitched every game for one Yankee star for several years.

McCarthy Will Love It.

Some baseball men say Lazzeri is no smarter than you would expect of a veteran of his experience. Anyway, the warm words of Dykes should redden the necks of Manager Joe McCarthy and his friends. He has shot some sharp criticism McCarthy's way in the past, particularly after the Yankees' boss failed to name Jim's man Luke Appling on last season's All-Star team. McCarthy merely yawned in the face of Dykes' previous comments.

MACCABEES VS. KICKERS.

The Maccabee A. C. and the Chicago Kickers soccer teams will meet Sunday at Kuppenheimer stadium, 19th and Keeler avenue.

Irish Center Marries

Toledo, O., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Patrick McCarty, center on Notre Dame's football team for three years, and Miss Margaret Mary Laplante, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Touissant Laplante, were married at St. Charles church here today. McCarty and his bride attended Central Catholic High school here. He will be graduated from Notre Dame in June. Mrs. McCarty has been attending Toledo Teachers college. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Austin Brown of Detroit, cousin of McCarty.

RIGGS ADVANCES IN SUGAR BOWL TENNIS TOURNEY

New Orleans, La., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Bobby Riggs, young California tennis star, seeded No. 1, led the parade of favorites into the second round of the Sugar Bowl tennis tournament today at the New Orleans Country club. Riggs turned back Eddie Sutter, 6-4, 6-4, in the first round. All the other seeded stars triumphed at the expense of local players.

Young Riggs, flashing the form that made it possible for him to be placed next to Don Budge in national rankings, gave Eddie a tennis lesson.

Church Plans Suit for Suspension of Trainer

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Norman Church, Los Angeles turfman, said today he had retained Senator Wheeler [D., Mont.] to take possible legal action against the board of stewards of the Santa Anita Jockey club. The action would be based on the suspension by the Santa Anita stewards last Jan. 18 of Thomas J. Carroll, a trainer in the Church stables.

South Bend Girl Makes U. S. Table Tennis Team

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Miss Betty Henry of South Bend will be a member of the United States team which competes in the world championship table tennis tournaments in London, England, next month.

REYNOLDS QUITS AS HEAD COACH OF KNOX ELEVEN

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Resignation of C. W. P. Reynolds of Chicago as football coach at Knox college was announced today by President Carter Davidson. Inability to accept a full time appointment because of personal business was given as the reason.

Reynolds has been coach at Knox since 1935, when he was appointed from a list of several hundred applicants for the position. At that time Knox had lost 27 consecutive games. It won its first game that fall, when Principia was defeated, and has maintained a .500 average during the three years Reynolds has been here. Where in 1934 not a single point was scored, the 1935 season achieved five victories, two ties, and lost two games. Reynolds' teams have won eleven, lost eleven, and tied three games.

It is understood the new coach, who has not yet been selected, will have a full time appointment. Reynolds, who lives at 1204 Sherwin avenue, Chicago, has come here only for a short spring training period and the fall season.

HERE ARE NAMES THAT MADE NEWS ON RADIO IN 1937

Expansion of Mutual Chain ...an Outstanding Event.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Names that made radio news in 1937 included:

Alfred J. McCosker, W. E. Macfarlane, and Lewis Allen Weiss, who, as leaders of the Mutual network, expanded it to coast to coast proportions, making it the third great American chain. Throughout the year this new network won from the older and established networks potent programs and personalities, including Paul Whiteman.

Shirley Temple, youngest of the nation's big league entertainers, who chose the Mutual chain, newest of the networks, for her coast to coast radio debut.

David Sarnoff, who in addition to giving considerable attention to getting television into the dress rehersal stage, organized a full sized symphony orchestra exclusively for radio and lured Arturo Toscanini back from retirement in Italy to conduct it.

Henry Ford, who paid $100,000 not to sponsor the world series!

Eddie Cantor, who, in addition to rounding out twenty-five years in the amusement business, accepted the presidency of the new American Federation of Radio Artists.

Rudy Vallee, who not only started Edgar Bergen and Charley McCarthy on their way to becoming a national institution, but introduced "Vieni, Vieni" on the air.

E. F. McDonald Jr., who turned to exploration of extrasensory perception as a theme for a sponsored broadcast series.

Herb Morrison, who unforgettably described [by way of a recording] his eyewitnessing of the Hindenburg disaster.

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Listener, who raised such an outcry at having radio moved lock, stock, and barrel to Hollywood that the uproar was beginning to reach the ears of some of the least deaf of sponsors.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Rose, by Any Other Name—

MANY VISIT BIER OF RAVEL WHO WROTE 'BOLERO'

PARIS, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A line of mourners tonight filed past the bier of Maurice Ravel, France's most celebrated modern composer whose works included the widely known "Bolero." Ravel, who was 52 years old, died today of a cerebral hemorrhage following grave head surgery.

Maurice Ravel.

Ravel's other best known works included "Jeux d'Eau," and "Miroirs," piano compositions, "Quatuor en Fa"; the symphonic "Rhapsodie Espagnole" and "La Valse"; the ballet "Daphnis et Chloe" and "Sheherazade."

Controversy surrounded Ravel and his works since 1901 when he won second place in the Prix de Rome and critics thought he deserved top honors. His originality and disregard for tradition aroused opposition among classicists.

HORNER RENEWS FIGHT FOR STATE SCHOOL CONTROL

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Administration of Illinois schools was the center of debate between Gov. Henry Horner and Fred L. Biester, president of the Illinois Education association, today at the association's 84th annual convention.

After Gov. Horner called attention to shortcomings in the present administrative setup of the school system and urged creation of a strong state school board, Biester said "I can see no advantage in trading the present situation for one that is even worse."

Gov. Horner declared the Illinois school system is archaic. He urged an equalization system which would correct a situation where one school district has 500 times as much ability to provide education as has the poorest district.

"If we had county-wide districts the ratio would be only about 6 to 1," he said. "Under such a plan the state could equalize school costs in a sound manner."

EDITH M'CORMICK MANSION PUT UP AT SALE; NO BIDS

The Edith Rockefeller McCormick mansion at 1000 Lake Shore drive went under the auctioneer's hammer yesterday in the sales room of the Chicago Real Estate board and found no takers.

The sale was undertaken by the Chicago Title and Trust company in an effort to raise about $700,000, enough to cover the $629,000 foreclosure sale of January, 1937, plus accumulated interest and taxes. The estate may redeem its equity in the property, once valued at 4 million dollars, up to Jan. 4, 1938. After that date the creditors have prior right of redemption for three months, and then the title goes to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company to satisfy the $500,000 mortgage.

The main gate and the fence surrounding the 31 room mansion were exhibited at the Columbian Exposition of 1893. They were manufactured by the Winslow Brothers company of Chicago, and not, as has previously been stated, in Germany. This point is established by four iron trade-mark plates, still fixed on the fence, which read: "Gates and Fence Made by the Winslow Bros. Co., Chicago, 1893."

The fence and main gate were shown by the Winslow company in the Manufacturing and Liberal Arts building at the fair, according to Edwin S. Fetcher of Winnetka, secretary and treasurer of the company until it went out of business in 1922. The company won eight medal awards at the exposition, according to Mr. Fetcher, one of which was for the gate and fence in question.

ESTATE LEFT BY MARIE LEFENS PUT AT $1,000,000

An estate in excess of $1,000,000 was left by Mrs. Marie Lefens, member of an old Chicago family, who died last March 24, it was disclosed yesterday by an inventory filed with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court.

Among the assets listed were $112,524 cash, bonds valued at $150,000, and stocks worth more than $750,000. Among stocks held by the estate were 3,612 shares of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and 1,500 shares of Pullman corporation.

Three children and three grandchildren are to share the estate after an award of $24,000 is paid to Miss Katherine Lefens, 60 Scott street, a daughter. Mrs. Lefens, who was 83 years old when she died, was the daughter of Conrad Seipp, wealthy brewer who died in 1890.

CZECH MINISTER TO ATTEND RITES FOR SMETANKA

Vladimir Hurban, Czechoslovakian minister to the United States, will be among the dignitaries who will attend the funeral tomorrow of Jaroslav F. Smetanka, consul general for Czechoslovakia in Chicago. Mr. Smetanka, who was 56 years old, died Monday in the Presbyterian hospital.

The services will be held at 2 p. m. in the First Presbyterian church, Oak Park. Representatives of the state and city government are expected to attend.

Mr. Smetanka, who was born in Bohemia, was made consul here in 1920 and was promoted to consul general in 1933. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rose Vanek Smetanka.

ACCUSES REAL ESTATE DEALER OF $20,000 FRAUD

Gale H. Dell, 46 years old, a real estate dealer, was arrested yesterday in his home, 7833 Kingston avenue, on a charge of using the mails to defraud Mrs. J. C. Cartwright, 1400 Lake Shore drive, of $20,000.

Taken before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, Dell was held in bonds of $5,000 for a hearing on Jan. 3. He denied any fraud had been committed.

Warren Canaday, first assistant United States district attorney, said it is alleged that Mrs. Cartwright turned the $20,000 over to Dell last December on the representation that she would receive 6 per cent annually from its investment in mortgages on property in the Calumet district. This promise, it is charged, was not fulfilled.

Newton D. Baker Is Buried After Service in Cleveland

Cleveland, O., Dec. 28.—(AP)—While colors were lowered to half staf at all army posts in the United States, funeral services were held for Newton D. Baker, President Wilson's secretary of war, in Trinity chapel here today. Bishop Warren Lincoln Rogers of the Ohio Episcopal diocese, conducted the services. The burial was in Lake View cemetery, where rest President James A. Garfield and John D. Rockefeller. Baker died of coronary thrombosis on Christmas day.

Dennis C. O'Shea, Head of Knitting Mills, Dies

Dennis C. O'Shea, president of the O'Shea Knitting mills, 2414 North Sacramento boulevard, died yesterday in his rooms at the Edgewater Beach hotel after an illness of several months. Mr. O'Shea was born 65 years ago in Elmira, N. Y., and came to Chicago as a young man. He served as a first lieutenant in the 7th Illinois infantry in the Spanish-American war. He founded the Shaker Knitting mills and was its president from 1912 to 1917. In 1918 he organized the O'Shea mills.

Memorial Rites Tomorrow for Iroquois Fire Dead

Mayor Kelly issued a proclamation yesterday designating tomorrow as Iroquois Memorial day in Chicago. The date marks the thirty-fourth anniversary of the Iroquois theater fire, which took 601 lives. Memorial services will be held at 3:30 p. m. in the city council chambers.

GEN'L MOTORS WILL LAY OFF 30,000 WORKERS

Result of Recession in Auto Sales.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Faced by declining automobile sales, the General Motors corporation, effective about Jan. 1, will reduce the number of its workers at its various plants in the United States by approximately 30,000, William S. Knudsen, president, announced today. However, more than 205,000 men will be continued at work and the monthly pay roll will exceed $24,000,000, Knudsen said.

W. S. Knudsen.

General Motors plants will be operated on a three day week for the time being, with each plant operating on a 24 hour basis, said Knudsen, in order to spread the work as far as possible.

Used Car Market Slow.

One of the most important contributing factors to the reduced operations of the plants of the world's largest automobile company has been the slowness in the used car market, Knudsen said.

The reduction in employment will affect about 20,000 persons in Michigan, it was said. Because business is "normal" in Canada, plants in the dominion will not be affected by the order.

"The corporation has kept its men employed up to very recently by reducing the hours given per man in order to help the general economic situation in the communities where plants are located," Knudsen said. "The inventories, both in the field and at the plants, accumulated through this policy, have, however, reached a point where adjustments must take place, as it is impossible to carry larger stocks than the demand makes possible.

Hopes It Is Temporary.

"Therefore, on or about Jan. 1, the working force will be reduced in order that the people who will continue at work, even on reduced hours, will have reasonable income for all their needs.

"The corporation regrets the circumstances which make this necessary, but sincerely hopes the condition will be temporary and that spring will see the return of normal employment."

Knudsen said that in his opinion one of the main reasons for the current business recession was the fact that the price level rose too fast in the spring of 1937 and that the nation could not digest it.

He made his announcement at a press conference at which he explained that he wanted it to be made directly to the press because "this is no seasonal layoffs" and he wanted to have the reasons back of it carefully outlined.

Blames Business Recession.

"We regret to make these layoffs, but we are forced to do so by the business recession," he said. "I hope we have reached the bottom of the recession by now."

Knudsen said he hoped for the usual spring pick-up in April and May to correct the situation. He also said he does not believe a reduction in prices or a cheaper line of cars would help much.

"If we can't sell used cars, cheaper models wouldn't do much good," he added.

Knudsen said 20,000 General Motors dealers have on hand about 60,000 more cars than at this time last year, and that dealers in the industry as a whole have stocks of about 600,000 used cars, which he estimated to be 150,000 to 200,000 higher than last year.

Costs of wages and materials in the present line of cars are up about 13½ per cent, Knudsen said, whereas the prices of the corporation's cars have been increased only 8½ per cent.

Urges Congress to Aid Trade.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Asserting that the decision of the General Motors corporation to lay off 30,000 persons is unfortunate, Senator Van Nuys [D., Ind.] today declared that congress should act immediately to restore business confidence.

Revision of the tax on undistributed profits and the tax on capital gains so that they would be more favorable to business would have an immediate beneficial effect, he said.

Montgomery Ward Shows Rise in Profit

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported profit for the quarter ended Oct. 31 of $6,238,230, or $1.20 a common share on 5,217,147 common shares, after federal surtax on undistributed profits, against profit after surtax of $5,875,586, or $1.29 a share on 4,565,004 shares, in the corresponding period a year ago.

Profit after surtax for the nine months ended Oct. 31 was $15,287,874, or $2.73 a common share on the basis of present capitalization, compared with profit after surtax of $12,977,442, or $2.61 a share on the shares outstanding in the same 1936 period.

Profits Larger Before Surtax.

Before federal surtax on undistributed profits, profit in the quarter just ended was $6,713,230, against $6,285,586 before surtax, in the corresponding three months a year ago. The company's fiscal year ends Jan. 31.

The Manhattan Shirt company earned $288,777, or $1.32 a share, in the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, against $438,398, or $2 a share, in the preceding year.

The McLellan Stores company estimated its profit for twelve months ended Oct. 31 at $1,119,955, compared with profit of $1,236,150 in the preceding year.

The General Alloys company earned $74,533 in the nine months ended Sept. 30. No comparative figures were given.

Predicts Profit Gain.

S. M. Knapp, executive vice president of Remington Rand, Inc., told the directors that November earnings would show a substantial increase over earnings in November, 1936. He also said both foreign and domestic business of the company is running well ahead of December, 1936, volume.

WILSON, PACKER, DEFERS COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND

Suggests 'Prudence' as Trade Falls.

Directors of Wilson & Co., Inc., one of the three largest meat packing companies, yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the preferred stock but deferred consideration of the usual quarterly payment on common stock to a later meeting. The board's regular meeting is scheduled for Jan. 25.

The company stated that the omission of action on common dividends signified nothing "other than the management's feeling that during a time of a general downward trend in business, common prudence suggests that consideration be deferred until a later meeting when the management will be better able to judge conditions and the prospect for earnings for the new fiscal year."

12½ Cents Paid Dec. 1.

The company paid a quarterly dividend of 12½ cents on Dec. 1, and the next regular dividend would be due March 1, 1938. The annual statement of earnings, which probably will be issued in a few days, is expected to show net income for the year of more than $3,000,000.

Spicer Manufacturing corporation directors took no action on a dividend on common stock on which one payment of $2 was made during 1937. They declared the regular quarterly 75 cent dividend on the preferred shares.

8.4 Pct. Drop Is Predicted in Rail Car Need

Shippers in the territory served by the Mid-West Shippers' Advisory board estimated yesterday that they will require 761,723 freight cars during the first quarter of 1938 to handle their business. This is a decline of 8.4 per cent from the 838,673 cars actually used in the first quarter of 1937.

The predictions made by the various shippers' advisory boards have been noteworthy for their accuracy and are rated as one of the best business barometers available. The district served by the Mid-West board embraces Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

Although the number of cars which it is expected the railroads will be called upon to handle in the forthcoming quarter is considerably below that of the first 1937 quarter, the estimate runs ahead of the first quarters of 1936, 1935, and 1934.

Bumper Crops Help.

Improved conditions which provided bumper crops in the agricultural districts of the midwest region helped to offset the heavy declines of most lines of industry, it was said.

Among the lines which expect to use more cars in the first quarter of 1938 than in the first quarter of 1937 are the following:

Grains, up 30 per cent; hay and straw, up 12 per cent, and fresh fruits and vegetables, up 20 per cent.

Farm implement shipments are expected to rise 2 per cent. The increase in this division was said to be somewhat surprising for the season of the year, as heavy buying ordinarily does not start until later.

List Probable Declines.

Items which are expected to show declines are the following:

Potatoes, off 18 per cent; poultry and dairy products, down 2 per cent; coal and coke, down 5 per cent; ore and concentrates, off 46 per cent; gravel and sand, down 25 per cent; lumber and forest products, down 35 per cent; petroleum products, down 5 per cent; iron and steel, down 52 per cent; cement, down 20 per cent; lime and plaster, down 10 per cent; automobiles and trucks, down 35 per cent; paper and paper board, down 10 per cent, and chemicals and explosives, down 10 per cent.

Mexico Orders U. S. Tank Cars Halted in Oil Row

[Copyright, 1937: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Dec. 28.—The Mexican government today ordered the halting of more than 100 United States oil tank cars before they cross the Mexican frontier. The government thus moved toward a showdown on the oil wage controversy with United States and British petroleum companies with an investment of $450,000,000 in Mexico.

ARMOUR TO ALTER FINANCE PLAN, DUE TO SECURITY SLUMP

Stockholders of Armour & Co. yesterday were asked to modify the company's $75,000,000 refinancing program which was apporved last summer before the setback in the investment field. Robert H. Cabell, president, askedthe stockholders to approve the new plan, which would enable the company to go through with its program piecemeal as conditions warant.

The original plan contemplated retirement of certain bank loans and the 7 per cent guaranteed cumulative preferred stock of Armour & Co. of Delaware, wholly owned subsidiary of Armour of Illinois, through the issuance of first mortgage bonds, or debentures convertible into common shares, in an aggregate amount not exceeding $75,000,000. The purpose was to simplify the capital structure of the company.

The stockholders are asked to approve at a meeting to be held in Chicago on Jan. 28 several modifications to the plan which would permit the company to issue from time to time bonds or debentures up to the $75,000,000 limit previously approved; to make such bonds or debentures convertible into common shares, and to fix the terms and basis of such conversion.

HEARING IS SET ON CONTRACT FOR UTILITY SERVICES

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday set Jan. 5 for a hearing on a proposal that supervision of the accounting and engineering operations of Utilities Power and Light corporation be turned over to Central Service corporation under contract.

Permission to make such a contract was requested by Willoughby G. Walling, trustee for Utilities Power, which is undergoing reorganization under the amended bankruptcy act.

Central Service company was organized recently to supply engineering and other services to utility companies. It is headed by Daniel C. Green, former president of the Middle West corporation.

WARLIKE WORLD GIVES U.S. BIGGER TRADE BALANCE

Exports Top Imports by Wide Margin.

Sales of American goods to foreign countries in 1937 will exceed by approximately $200,000,000 the imports of foreign goods, department of commerce officials predicted yesterday as preliminary figures were issued on November transactions.

War preparations by countries in all parts of the world contributed substantially to the expansion in exports of American goods, department representatives said. American goods for which foreign demand increased largely included scrap iron, copper, aircraft, and gasoline, all articles that are important war materials.

Trade Shows Favorable Balance.

The department reported exports for the first eleven months of 1937 of $3,026,872,000, compared with $2,226,178,000 in the corresponding 1936 period. Imports for the period were $2,875,202,000, against $2,177,431,000 a year ago. The favorable balance of $151,670,000 for the eleven month period compared with surplus of $48,747,000 in the corresponding 1936 period.

November foreign trade declined in accordance with the seasonal trend. Exports for the month totaled $314,682,000 and imports aggregated $223,226,000. This compares with $226,364,000 and $196,400,000, respectively, in November last year. Exports were off 5 per cent compared with October and imports fell 1 per cent.

Fewer Days in November.

The decline was due in part to the fact that there were two less business days in November than October.

Shipments of agricultural products, including wheat, fruits and tobacco, declined from October to November, the department reported. The quantity of unmanufactured cotton exported in November was larger, but because of a decline in prices the value of the exports was smaller.

November exports of automobiles, aircraft and iron and steel products were larger than in the preceding month.

JUDGE LIKENS OIL TRIAL TO SALOON BRAWL

Madison, Wis., Dec. 28.—(AP)—In a stormy session of federal court today Judge Patrick T. Stone refused to declare a mistrial in the federal government's gasoline price fixing case and lectured attorneys for conduct which he said resembled "a saloon brawl."

Much of the session had been consumed by a series of running arguments between William J. Donovan, chief defense counsel, and the government prosecutors.

Judge Stone said from now on he was going to hold a "tight rein" on proceedings in the case in which sixteen major oil companies and thirty-seven individuals remain on trial. They are charged with conspiring to raise and fix midwestern gasoline prices in 1935 and 1936.

15 ARE INDICTED IN INSURANCE COMPANY CASE

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Frank Flynn, United States district attorney, announced today the names of fifteen Californians indicted by a federal grand jury here recently after an investigation of the old Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California.

Those indicted were: George I. Cochran, former president; Douglas E. C. Moore, Lee A. Phillips, Howard S. Dudley, Ben R. Meyer, Stanley F. McClung, Wesley C. Green, Alfred G. Hann, Allan D. Grant, Benjamin A. Hilliard, J. Becah Rhoades, Samuel K. Rindge, William H. Davis, De Lancey Lewis, and Roy S. Hoagland.

Flynn said the offense charged was the use of the mails in an alleged scheme to defraud.

SALES OF AUTOS DROP THIS MONTH IN COOK COUNTY

Automobile sales in Cook county during the first 23 days of December totaled 4,753 cars, compared with 8,889 in the like period of December, 1936, and 6,631 in the like period of 1935. In November, this year, sales totaled 5,413, against 5,287 in November, 1936.

Although there was a marked decline in sales this December, compared with December last year, the year will run ahead of last year and will set a new record for Cook county with a total of about 125,000 cars.

Some Stores Drop Jap Goods; Others Watch War for Policy

BY HERBERT VEDDER.

At least two large Chicago department stores are not buying Japanese-made goods, and other retailers are watching closely the developments in Japan's undeclared war in China to guide them in their purchasing policies, it was learned yesterday.

The Woolworth and Kresge chains, natural targets of anti-Japanese sentiment because of the large amount of Japanese trinkets, toys, and other goods selling from 5 to 50 cents, announced in New York yesterday that they have ceased buying goods made in Japan. The Fair store in Chicago, controled by S. S. Kresge, has adopted a similar policy, President D. F. Kelly said.

Another Stops Buying.

Another State street store has not been buying Japanese goods for some time, but is not announcing the fact, an official said, "because we are trying to get rid of what we have."

Buyer resistance to merchandise coming from Japan has not developed to a serious extent, but many merchants believe another "Panay incident" would crystalize sentiment to the extent that it would be difficult to move Japanese goods now on counters and in stock rooms.

R. R. Williams, vice president of the S. S. Kresge company, said that sudden boycotts against Japanese merchandise actually are boycotts against American merchants who have the goods on hand rather than the Japanese merchants or exporters who already have been paid for the goods.

Cut Buying Long Ago.

Fear of important buyer resistance has led some stores to discontinue or curtail purchases of Japanese goods during the last several months, although these stores have adopted no fixed policy, publicly or otherwise. Some fear announcement of a definite stand would tend to arouse buyer resistance. Some of these merchants, as well as those who have taken a definite position, have bought little or nothing in Japan for six months. Some of the variety store merchandise for the holiday trade was bought and paid for as long ago as last January.

Although several large Chicago stores were admittedly pursuing a cautious policy and awaiting developments, a representative of another leading department store said his company is following a long established plan of refusing to recognize international conditions in purchasing goods wanted by its customers at best possible prices. Mail order houses have not considered the Japanese question because of the infinitesimal percentage of their foreign purchases.

SPLAWN ELECTED I.C.C. CHAIRMAN FOR YEAR; TAKES POST ON JAN. 1

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Walter M. W. Splawn, a Texan, will become chairman of the interstate commerce commission on Jan. 1. The commission today announced Splawn's election for a one year term, succeeding Carroll Miller. Under a policy adopted in 1911 the chairmanship is changed annually.

W. M. W. Splawn.

Splawn, a former member of the Texas railroad commission and a former president of the University of Texas, became a member of the I. C. C. on Feb. 1, 1934, by appointment of President Roosevelt.

Splawn holds a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

BRITISH OPTION ON ALL CANADIAN WHEAT RUMORED

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 28.—As part of its now swiftly developing plans to safeguard Great Britain's food supplies in the event of war, the British government has taken an option on the entire Canadian wheat crop, the Daily Herald said tonight.

According to the Daily Herald, the option was negotiated by the board of trade and Sir Thomas Inskip, minister of coördination of defense, with the Canadian wheat board.

"If the option ever has to be taken up," it said, "it will cost Britain about £100,000,000 sterling [about $500,000,000], plus £5,000,000 pounds sterling [about $25,000,000] the price of the option."

Canadian Official "Not Informed."

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—If the British government has bought the Canadian wheat crop, Canada's minister of agriculture, J. G. Gardiner, has not been informed, he said tonight.

STOCKS PLUNGE ON FEAR OF NEW BUSINESS BLOW

Traders Alarmed by Federal Attitude.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 28.—Stock prices plunged as much as 5 points today, with numerous issues making new lows for the year. Shares were thrown on the market at generous price concessions as brokers, traders, and investors, frightened by the possibility of another administration attack on business, further government interference in business, and continuing trade recession, delivered holdings for whatever they would bring.

Volume swelled appreciably on the decline, the total for the day reaching 2,381,950 shares, compared with 1,361,120 shares on Monday. Of 984 issues traded 791 declined and only 64 advanced. The rest were unchanged.

Federal Policies Feared.

Although tax selling, selling to clean out accounts for the year-end, and a moderate amount of short selling were advanced as contributing factors to the setback, the apparent indecision of the Roosevelt administration concerning its business policies was struck home anew, according to observers, by the recent blast by Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general.

It was pointed out that Jackson's declarations were at variance with the implications contained in the President's recent indication that a "definitly" balanced budget would be the administration's aim in 1938.

Further Proof of Slump.

Although it was conceded that the lack of confidence generated by such widely opposed viewpoints could react only in an unfavorable manner upon Wall street sentiment, further proof was made available today of the seriousness of the trade recession.

The adverse news was the announcement that the General Motors corporation was forced to discharge 30,000 employés and to put the majority of its remaining 205,000 employés on a part-time basis.

Industrial shares were the hardest hit. U. S. Steel common touched off the selling when it opened 2¼ points lower on 4,000 shares. Trading set a faster pace. Steel went lower to close at 52½, off 4½ points. Bethlehem, off 4¼, and Youngstown, off 3, were close behind. Republic Steel, off 1⅞, also was active.

General Motors and Chrysler were in the thick of the selling. Both stocks set new lows for the year, General Motors dropping 1 point to 30⅛ and Chrysler falling 2 points to 48⅜.

Losses of major fractions to two points were incurred by the carriers. New York Central, off 1¼, was most active. Atchison lost 2, Southern Pacific, 1¼; Southern Railway, 1⅜; Union Pacific, 1, and Chesapeake and Ohio, ⅞ of a point.

Utilities were under only moderate pressure, although several leaders, including Electric Power and Light, American Water Works, and Consolidated Edison, slumped one point or so. The majority of others eased fractions, with Columbia Gas and Electric active.

Some of the largest losses were chalked up against heavy machinery and equipment stocks. Conspicuous were Westinghouse, off 4½; J. I. Case, off 4⅜; International Harvester, off 3⅜; Allis-Chalmers, off 1¼, and General Electric, off 2⅜.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The bond market sank fractions to 4 or more points today, waterlogged by the heaviest liquidation in more than two months.

United States governments, subjected to pressure as investors backed away from the longer term issues and favored the short terms, ended with gains and losses about evenly divided. Some treasury bonds with maturities less than ten years distant advanced as much as 8-32s, while corresponding declines were made in issues falling due later.

Losing 2 to 4 or more points were Alleghany 5s, Alleghany 5s, stamped; American and Foreign Power 5s, and International Telephone 5s. Losing better than 2 points were Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4½s and Erie 5s.

Chicago Stocks.

Another wave of selling carried active issues fractions to more than $1 a share lower on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Marshall Field, Borg-Warner, and a number of other issues reached new low ground for the year.

Selling gathered momentum on the downside and transactions for the session reached 78,000 shares. THE TRIBUNE average of twenty stocks closed at 9.16, off 0.35, and only 0.04 above low point of the session.

Of the 146 issues traded ninety-four declined, only eight advanced, and forty-four were unchanged.

Borg-Warner fell 1½ and Marshall Field lost ⅜. Zenith Radio eased to a new 1937 low of 12⅛, off ⅞. Chicago Corporation common, most active issue, declined ⅛ to 1¾, its 1937 low.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stock prices broke sharply yesterday, and quotations by various dealers differed widely. First National was quoted $5 to $6 a share lower, and Continental Illinois National was off $3 to $5. American National was $5 to $10 lower. Northern Trust was quoted unchanged to $15 lower.

U. S. EXTENDS MEXICAN SILVER PURCHASE PACT

Plan Is Effective Only Through January.

Treasury officials announced in Washington, D. C., yesterday the extension through January of the arrangement under which the government purchases newly mined Mexican silver at approximately 45 cents an ounce.

The extension, officials said, is merely a temporary arrangement pending clarification of the future silver purchase policy of the American government.

The proclamation under which the federal treasury buys newly mined domestic silver at 77.57 cents an ounce expires at midnight Friday. President Roosevelt will outline the new policy before Friday and it has been indicated that the domestic purchase program will be extended, but on a twenty-four hour basis, with the purchase price subject to daily change.

London Pact Expires Friday.

Also expiring Friday night is the London silver stabilization agreement of 1933. This agreement will not be renewed. Yesterday's announcement was interpreted to mean the United States is willing to negotiate individually with other nations on the silver problem.

Silver yesterday broke to 40.90 cents an ounce on the London market, the lowest figure at which it has been quoted since May, 1934. Yesterday's price compared with the previous price of 41.47 cents an ounce, quoted last Friday. The London market was closed Monday and Saturday.

The weakness of the London market was apparently the result of the developments over the week-end suggesting that this country would not make an unconditional guarantee to buy at a fixed price.

Conferences to Continue.

The temporary silver agreement with Mexico was announced after a conference yesterday of Mexican Finance Minister Euardo Saurez and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. A treasury spokesman said conferences between Saurez and Morgenthau will continue, but that no permanent arrangement will be completed until President Roosevelt makes his new policy known.

The President said at his press conferences yesterday that the statement on silver will be issued before midnight Friday either from the White House or the treasury department.

Corporate Mergers.

Corporations often grow by absorbing other corporations. The process is called merging. Strictly speaking, a merger occurs only when one corporation loses its identity by absorption in an existing company. Thus in 1928 a merger was effected when Dodge Brothers was absorbed by Chrysler corporation, which retained its name and issued Chrysler stock to shareholders of Dodge Brothers.

When two or more companies join to form a new corporation the result is known as a consolidation. When Nash Motors and the Kelvinator corporation formed the Nash-Kelvinator corporation in January, 1937, stock in the new company was issued to old shareholders of both companies and a consolidation was effected.

Although there is this distinction between the terms merger and consolidation, usage in business circles has made the terms practically synonymous. For most purposes the result is practically the same in either case.

EGG CONTRACTS DIP SHARPLY; RECEIPTS BIG

Egg contracts tumbled 1⅜ to 1½ cents a dozen yesterday at the Chicago Mercantile exchange in one of the sharpest reactions since the downward movement early in October. Butter futures receded ¾ to ⅞ cent a pound.

December refrigerator eggs closed 1½ cent lower at 20½ cents, the low point for the day, and January contracts finished at 19½ cents a dozen, down 1⅜ cents and also at low point of the session.

Traders attributed the reaction in egg prices to heavy eastern receipts, weakness in the New York cash market, and failure of cold weather to arrive as quickly as expected in some parts of the mid-west producing areas.

Nash Motors Will Transfer Some Offices to Detroit

Headquarters of sales, advertising and statistical departments of the Nash Motors division of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation will be transferred from Kenosha, Wis., to Detroit, effective Jan. 3, officials said yesterday. The shift is being made in line with plans announced some time ago.

RAILS' INCOME FALLS 52 PCT. BELOW YEAR AGO

68 Roads' Total 30 Pct. Less than in October.

Aggregate net operating income of the first 68 railroads to report for November was 30.8 per cent less than in October and 52.9 per cent less than in November, 1936, a compilation disclosed yesterday. Net operating income is income before fixed charges and other income.

The compilation also disclosed that gross revenues of the 68 roads in November declined 4.5 per cent from October revenues and were 10.8 per cent under revenues in the corresponding month last year.

Road Has $992,855 Loss.

The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad reported loss of $992,855 in November after charges but before guarantees on separately operated properties, against income of $352,691 on the same basis in the like 1936 month. Loss for the first eleven months of this year was $6,545,000 before guarantees, against loss of $4,091,865 on the same basis in the corresponding 1936 period.

The Missouri Pacific railroad had November net operating income of $665,699, against $1,160,606 in the same 1936 month.

GRAINS FOLLOW SECURITIES IN SHARP DECLINE

Slow Export Trade Also Depresses Prices.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday	Monday	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .91½	$ .92¾	$1.17⅜
Corn	.61¾	.61¾	1.04⅛
Oats	.30⅝	.30⅝	.50⅜
Rye	.71½	.70⅝	1.08
Soy beans	.97⅜	.98¼	1.54½

Weakness in securities, a slow export demand, and evening up operations in the December delivery, trading in which ceased at the close of the market, resulted in a lower range of grain prices yesterday.

December wheat at the lowest sold at 92 cents, or ¢ cents a bushel below Monday's close, and final trades were at 92 to 92¼ cents, showing an average net loss of 3⅜ cents. December corn lost 1⅜ cents and December oats declined 1⅛ cents a bushel. The expiring deliveries of rye and soy beans were somewhat higher.

Deferred deliveries of wheat declined 1 cent, and corn lost a major fraction of a cent a bushel.

Outside Interest Light.

Outside speculative interest in the market was light and trading was largely of a holiday character, the break in securities deterring professional traders from taking a stand on the buying side.

Although European and the Winnipeg markets reopened yesterday after being closed since Friday, there was no export demand of consequence for either North American wheat or corn, which had a depressing effect on prices. Winnipeg wheat futures closed ¼ to ⅝ cent higher and Liverpool was ⅝ cent higher to ⅛ cent a bushel lower compared with Friday.

Drop in Demand a Surprise.

The decline in the European demand for corn was unexpected by the trade, as crop reports from Argentina continue unfavorable and cables received yesterday from Buenos Aires indicated only scattered showers had occurred in that country. Buenos Aires futures, however, fell sharply.

Rye showed independent strength as the result of buying which the trade attributed to removal of hedges against export sales.

Hudson Motor Car.

Investors' Guide: Am considering investing in Hudson Motors. Wish you would kindly give me some information.—F. A. W.

Answer: This company is the fourth largest American producer of low and medium priced automobiles. It has facilities, mainly in a big plant in Detroit, for turning out approximately 300,000 cars a year. During the depression, however, output sank to a low of 41,000 in 1933. The company has shared in the comeback of the automobile industry in the last four years, with factory shipments increasing to 123,000 units in 1936 and a slightly higher number this year.

Improvement in volume was accomplished during 1937 in spite of strikes last spring, but the strikes and increased costs of production have cut into profits severely. The third quarter loss because of shift over to new models amounted to $805,000 this year, compared with $131,000 in 1936. For the first nine months of this year the company has had a net income of $258,000, or 16 cents a share, compared with $2,014,000, or $1.30 a share, in the first nine months of 1936. The latter figures are before all federal taxes, however.

	Output.	Sales.	Net inc.	Inc. per shr.
1936	123	$ 77,151	$ 3,306,000	$2.14
1935	101	63,077	585,000	.38
1934	86	52,568	*3,239,000	*2.10
1933	41	23,521	*4,410,000	*2.87
1929	301	201,018	11,596,000	7.36

*Loss.

Debt of the company consists of $3,850,000 of collateral and first mortgage notes due serially 1938-'40, after retirement of $900,000 of notes during 1937. Stock consists solely of 1,573,810 no par common shares.

Under terms of the private sale of first mortgage notes in 1935, no cash dividend could be paid before Jan. 1, 1937, while subsequent payments can be made only from half of net income in excess of $2,000,000 for the preceding year as long as any notes are outstanding. Dividends were resumed with payment of 25 cents Dec. 16, 1937, the first since 25 cents was paid in January, 1932.

Financial position is satisfactory, working capital amounting to $16,083,000 on June 30, 1937, compared with $14,831,000 a year earlier.

The immediate outlook is clouded by decreased automobile sales, Hudson having reduced production in common with other manufacturers during the last six weeks. The stock should be considered speculative.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

[This is the third of a series of articles explaining how the individual farmer is affected by the new farm bills designed to control production.]

Federal Loans.

Dec. 28, 1937.

FEDERAL government loans to encourage the coöperation of farmers are provided for in the senate and house bills that were recently passed. Differences in the bills are yet to be adjusted in committee at the next session of congress. Surplus loans are to be made available through a $100,000,000 government corporation, but only to farmers willing to sign contracts and coöperate in the production control program. The only exception is where a noncoöperator becomes eligible for a loan on a limited basis when a national market quota is invoked.

Farmers who sign crop adjustment contracts with the government, as provided for in the senate bill, will be eligible for loans on wheat and corn. For example, corn loans provided for by the senate will be made at a rate based on parity price and the relationship of the total supply to the normal supply, as proclaimed at the beginning of the marketing year.

How Loans Are Figured.

If the total supply of corn, in terms of a percentage of the normal supply, is 100 per cent the farmer would receive a loan of 85 per cent of the parity price. [Parity price is defined as a price that would give the farmer a purchasing power in nonagricultural commodities equivalent to the purchasing power of farm commodities from 1909 to 1914.] At present the parity price on a bushel of corn is approximately 85 cents. At that price the coöperating grower could borrow 85 per cent of the parity price of 86 cents a bushel, or about 72 cents a bushel. If the total supply is 110 per cent he could borrow 62 per cent of the parity price, or about 53 cents.

Whenever a national market quota is in effect on corn for the current crop the corporation is directed to make loans available to any noncooperator on his stock of corn in excess of his farm market quota established on his crop. But the loan rate is to be only 70 per cent of the amount per bushel received by the cooperator. So when the coöperator receives a loan of 72 cents a bushel the noncoöperator would get only about 49 cents a bushel; when the coöperator gets 53 cents the noncoöperator's loan would be only about 37 cents a bushel.

For refusing to have his production and marketing program run by the government a noncoöperator is not only limited in the size of the loan on corn but is restricted on the total amount of corn on which he may borrow. The senate bill, according to interpretations of experts, allows a cooperator to borrow on as much of his current corn crop as he cares to store and seal. The noncoöperator, on the other hand, is limited to borrow only on that part of his corn sealed under the market quota.

Corn Is Sole Security.

Corn, sealed in a crib on the farm or in an elevator and insured, will be accepted as the sole security on the loan. The rate of interest to be charged farmers will be determined by the corporation's officials.

The loans for both coöperator and noncoöperator hinge on the market quota. If one-third or more of the farmers voting in a referendum on a particular commodity are opposed to the market quota, then the loans will not be available at all.

Payments under the soil act and parity payments also are provided for in the senate bill to encourage farmers to join the program by signing adjustment contracts. It will require an army of local G-men—community committees of farmers—several weeks to establish acreage bases on each farm. The committees must check every farm where corn is grown, and offer contracts to those that raise more than 300 bushels and market more than 25 per cent.

All contracts for next year must be signed before June 1, 1938. Fifty-one per cent of the farmers growing corn for market must sign the contracts before the program for corn becomes effective. A farmer is considered a producer of corn for market whether he sells it for cash or feeds it to live stock that is to be sold or produce products, such as milk and eggs, for sale.

Parity payments will be discussed in a later article.
